In Memoriam

UR low life was the level's and the night's;
He's for the morning.

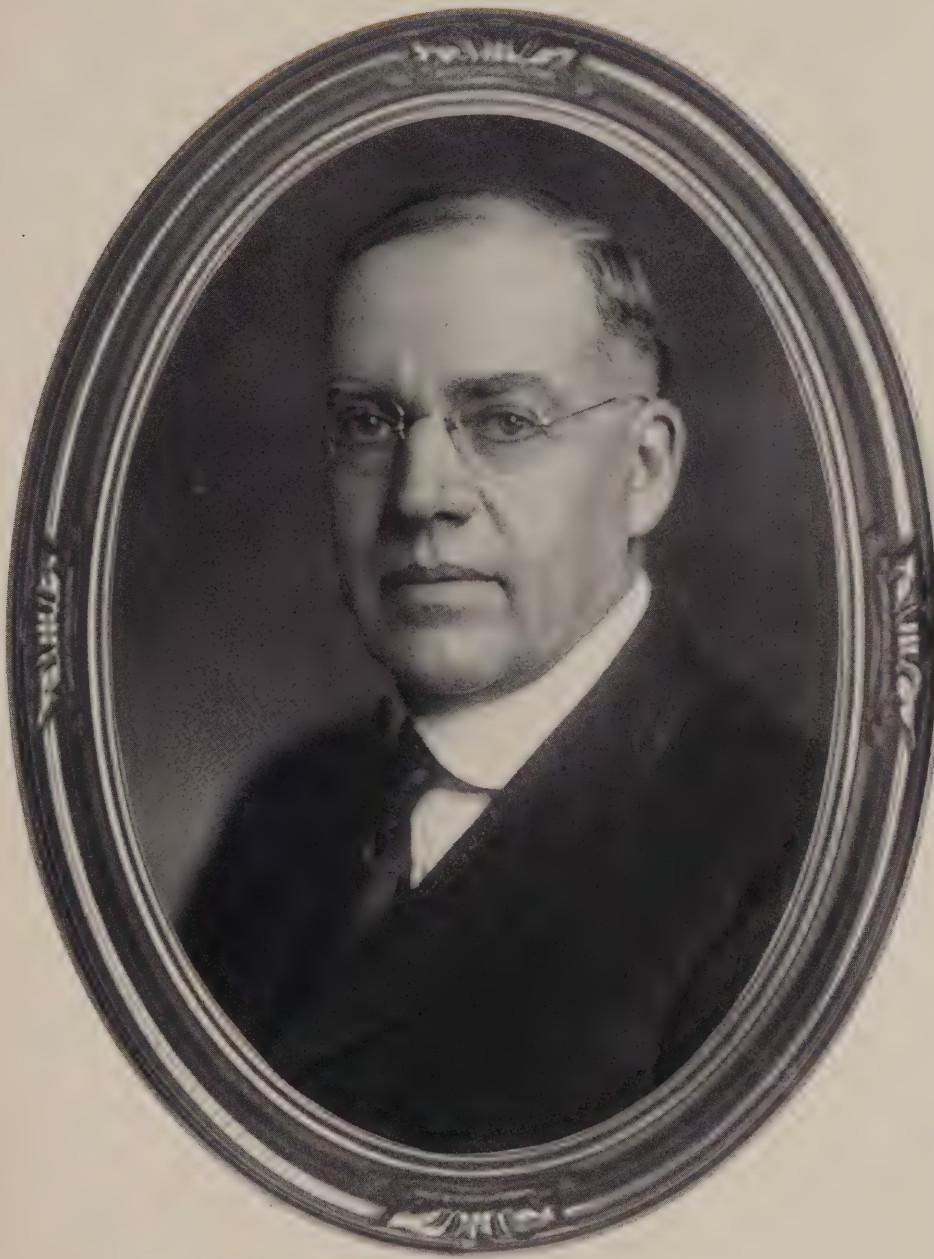

Step to a tune, square chests, erect each head,
'Ware the beholders!

This our master, famous, calm and dead,
Borne on our shoulders.

The Senior Class

T was late. . . one of those questionable hours that lie close to the passing of one day and the advent of another. I sat trying to wheedle sonorous words into something that would pass for thought. I closed my eyes; opened them to find sitting opposite me a little fellow of rounded face and sparkling eye. He impressed one at once with extreme age and wisdom, then of tender youth and gay innocence.

"Who are you"? I boldly asked. "I am sent to aid you", he evaded. Thought I, "If you were my muse, you should have feminine form". "Exactly", said he answering my thoughts.

Shocked at this I said with less confidence and infinitely more respect, "Well Mr. Philosopher or Fool, I am listening". What follows is the monologue that I set down as he talked.

"Senior classes are old stuff to me. I have seen many come and go. Each one thinks its ranks filled with the most illustrious students, the most finished orators and actors, and the greatest athletes. But they average up . . . they average up. The ambition of individuals is pretty much the same, some wish to add three letters to their name while others will strive to append six ciphers. The members of each succeeding class for whom I have greatest hope are those who have what you call "the Knox spirit" what I call broad ideals. This is what marks your class—1931—from the rest, each member seems to share equally in this quality."

He stopped and was gone.

I felt a bit confused at his sudden exit, and found myself vainly trying to wish him back.

The more I pondered his words the more delighted with them I became. Surely a richer heritage and more useful product of living and working at Knox has no other class ever carried away. But the most pleasurable of all our sentiments comes when we realize that the fountain from which we drew continues to nourish those who follow with undiminished volume and richness.

The Junior Class

UNLIKE our predecessors, we, the members of the graduating class of 1932, do not insist that we are the best group ever to enter the Knox portals.

Youthful promise does not always mean mature success, and success rarely means fame. We may not be the means of adding to the college's illustrious reputation. We may not include a glittering celebrity who will bring attention to Knox by the mere fact of his having been here. It is our hope that through the lives Knox has taught us to live, we shall be able to display a little of the atmosphere a century of sincerity has given to Knox.

We should be pleased, certainly, if twenty-five years from now, we could point with pride to members of our class climbing the heights in every field. We should like to boast of Bill Beattie's list of best-sellers; of Dick Barron, America's columnist; Mary McEldowney and Nels Nordstrom, scribblers of verse; Dopp, the world's best dressed woman; Alice Anderson, president of a women's college; Natalie Diemer, screen queen; Bill Menke, billionaire; Grace Castle, First Lady; Bob Speer of the Follies Begeres; J. K. Gunther, Attorney General; Nancy McLellan and Carl Fredrickson, operatic stars; Helen Gardner, University Biologist; Jane, Jennie, Leona, and Louise, capable housewives; and so, as the fire-logs crack and the smoke of our pipes curls, far into the night

Fame, we know, is a fickle goddess. If we manage to live complete lives, lives youth dreams of living with happiness and sorrow evenly balanced, we shall not only reflect the spirit of Knox, but we shall be satisfied. Look at our faces, and judge for yourself whether or not we have a chance to succeed.

JOE ADAMS

If everyone were as nonchalant as Joe, we would have no need for a certain famous brand of cigarettes.

BILLY ALEXANDER

Blithe, blusterng, bouncing old Billy, a hard-boiled sergeant with an eye for mashies and niblicks. He has a convenient sense of humor; it's so easy to apply.

WELDON ALLEN

He makes us think of the title of a Horatio Alger novel, "Bound to Rise", or "Steady and Sure". He has one bad fault; he keeps bad company. They say he plays with sines and cosines.

ALICE ANDERSON

With the expertness of a Miss Efficiency, she has succeeded in becoming a personage in a number of activities. It is her constancy, the adherence to the little things that has gained for her great heights.

PAUL ARNTSON

Galva—Swede—Well dressed — semi-actor — junk Ford.

PAUL BABCOOK

Give Bab a bottle of beer, a loaf of bread, a shady tree, start him on the story about the flies on the Burlington bridge, and you will spend a really interesting afternoon. A powerful fullback, and a member of Phi Delta Theta.

RICHARD BARRON

A flighty, temperamental fellow, given to droll remarks, and shooting off on unexpected tangents. He slings a wicked pen, and he's willing to use it. Moody Dick, a June thunderstorm.

RAY BEARDSLEY

He's a mischievous, naughty young rascal, but you give him every molasses cookie in the jar, as soon as he comes edging up to you with that roguish gleam in his eyes.

WILLIAM BEATTIE

This boy has ideas, and inherent in him is a dreamy respect for life which is the first essential of good writing. His dexterity and nimbleness will allow him, unaided, to provide for his own happiness.

KENNETH BELL

Quiet, oh much too quiet. We suspect that under the tranquil surface there are possibilities which would interest his less intimate associates. He assiduously avoids the members of the fairer sex, woe are they, woe are they!

MARY LOUISE BOTRUFF

She is so modest and well-behaved that it is not just anyone who has the opportunity of knowing her. Ask any Alpha Xi how she can cook. She knows all about it.

HARRIETTE BOUCHER

Typically brunette, petite and energetic. We certainly thank the cyclone that hit Murphyshoro a few years ago for leaving her intact, for Siwash would have missed her friendliness.

LOLA BOWMAN

"Her face had a wonderful fascination in it. It was such a calm, quiet face, with the light of the rising soul shining so peacefully through it." —Longfellow.

DOROTHY BOYER

One glance at her, and you think of jasmine, misty mornings, tinkling music, and maidenly blushes. And when she speaks, her witty repartee gives you an electric shock. The result is refreshing.

JEROME BURTLE

"Shanty Irish" is this attractive little fellow. He packs a mean wit and a big vocabulary which we're sure someone home in Springfield appreciates.

HAROLD CALLAHAN

They called him "Boots" when he was sowing his wild oats a few months ago. Since he has come under the influence of a respectable college, he has acquired an air of discriminating disdain.

BURTON CARLE

According to Burt, between God and Woman there is no distinction. He is ever so fond of co-eds, but there is a little blonde back home that really holds the strings. A good swimmer, and he is quite proud of his acting.

FRANCES CARLSON

Lombard, Augustana, and now Knox. Apparently she believes that variety is the spice of life. We find her a gay companion, a good sport, and an inventor of ingenious ideas for having a good time.

GRACE CASTLE

One rarely sees such dignity, such tranquil poise, such a serene bearing, so free from frigid aloofness. She is distinctively courteous. Grace is a perfect aristocrat.

CHARLES CENTER

This is the big blonde co-captain of the football team. They say his favorite occupation is washing a black Ford coupe. (Editor's note—do you see anything in that profile that reminds you of a man named Barrymore?)

GALE

DOROTHY CHAMBERLIN

From St. Mary's comes Dorothy with her high ideals and studious ways. She delves into the intricacies of events long ago for a major in history. Blonde, aristocratic, and ornamental, she does her bit along the way.

EDITH CHRISTENSON

She is one of those rare persons in whom the quality of stability is found. We hear that she has been instrumental in putting on some very clever programs for a certain organization.

HAROLD COLB

In epitome we can classify him thus—energetic—original—a sense of humor—a dash of self-assertiveness. He gets things done, socially as well as scholastically. He seems to be one of those who get the biggest kick out of college.

JAMES CONINE

When Jim's not dashing around looking after the business interests of the GALE, he may usually be found waiting at the stage door of the Knox Theatre. He also occasionally attends classes.

LLOYD DALY

A blood-red ruby in a tin box. Daly should have lived in the glorious days of Thomas Paine and Aaron Burr. He should have been a Rebel at the head of a fighting mob. He's too splendidly broad-minded for the twentieth century.

EDWIN DANZEISER

Edwin is the class druggist. His outstanding feature is his curly blonde hair. Can it be an inferiority complex that keeps him so securely out of sight, or is it just plain business?

HARRIETT DAVIDSON

She came here from Lombard to ornament the Knox stage, and with a minor purpose—so that the stage door would be close to the Beta house for Jim's benefit. Her eloquent gestures stamp her a natural born actress.

PAUL DEVORE

With his practical, unassuming line of talk, you would never realize that this boy knows a great deal about literature. He is frequently present in the Standish room, and he goes there to read the books. (Page Elder).

NATALIE DIEMER

Ah, and here we have the definition of sophistication. "Informed in the ways of the world, pretentiously wise, beguiling."

DOROTHY DOPP

A cross between "My Little Gypsy Sweetheart" in red paint and earrings, and Helen of Troy. Her salient point is her ability to wear clothes like Nobody's Business.

MARJORIE DRAWBAUGH

Another budding authoress added to our ranks, and another break for the gentlemen with preferences. She looks prim and old-fashioned, but she's a jolly fine girl.

KENNETH DYAR

They call him "brute", but we've been assured that he's quite peaceful and harmless. We hope he enjoys those evening chats with a certain professor.

BETTY DYSON

A happy-go-lucky girl who never worries, never frets, yet always comes out on top. There's a devil in her eye, mischief on her tongue, and everything sweet about Betty Co-ed.

EMMA-LOU FISHER

"Coquet and shy at once her air,
Both studied, though both seem neglected;
Careless she is with artful care,
Affecting to seem affected."

JOHN FISHER

John is our new track aspirant from Williams. Occasionally he is able to be found at home nights, but we cannot state that with authority.

MARY FRANCIA

Raphael might have used her as a model for his Madonnas. From the sublime to the ridiculous, she never wears shoes with chipped or untidy heels.

CARL FREDRICKSON

When he sings, something rams an arm down your throat, and grabs your lungs. He's better than Orpheus, because when he sings, not only savage beasts, but college students in chapel, listen.

HELEN GARDNER

One of the reasons why true gentlemen prefer blondes. The personification of feminine delicacy. Yet Helen has a rousing good time. She has completed thirty-four hours of biology. She must like it.

MARK GAULT

Everything about him is undisturbed and composed. There is no situation he cannot meet with Chesterfield nonchalance. He enjoys the life served up to him; he takes one thing at a time and values its refinement.

MARY ALICE GIBSON

"Hoot" is a vest pocket edition of what an executive should be. We have often wondered how so many admirable qualities could be crowded into such a tiny bit of humanity.

GALE

LEDORA GRAHAM

A green-eyed billikin, a Cheshire cat with a waggish grin. With little or no effort, you can talk her out of the shirt on her back, that's how agreeable she is.

JOHN GRAY

Versatile only in the field of the intellect? But what about the love for music and tennis? He is the climax of an era of three brothers whose visions have been broadened by a deviation to dramatics, music, or tennis.

HENRY GREENE

Short and roly-poly, pink cheeks, a Phi Delt, a former Lombard man, only very rarely noisy, and a girl with a poetic name.

KENNETH GUNTHER

A gallant youth is Comrade Gunther, destined to be a rising young Business Man and an eligible bachelor. Polite, cheerful, respectful, and fond of wholesome fun.

ROBERT GUSTAFSON

One of those to whom it is given, willy-nilly, to be popular. He displays a combination, paradoxical though it may be, of a grand manner and a collegiate attitude.

FLORENCE HALE

She's an exception to the adage that a temper accompanies red hair. Her happy smiling eyes and cordial smile preponderate the traditional temper. She is democratic, unassuming, and sympathetic. Florence is a genuine friend, tried and true.

DOROTHY HARTMAN

Dot is a great remedy for the blues. If you ever get to feeling downhearted, get her to do an impersonation of Amos 'n' Andy or Gilda Gray, and you'll soon forget your troubles.

ARCHIE HEDENBERG

His name is Arch, but he isn't arch
Neither is he coy.
We rejoice in the vibrant voice
Of this music-conscious boy.

LORING HELFRICH

Whenever we think of him it does us good; he's like a bracking tonic, spicy effervescent, fairly bubbling over with the inexpressible joy of living. We love to hear him chuckle.

EDWARD HIERONYMUS

A smallish man with a big name and great ambitions. He's famous among the weaker sex for his dancing ability.

1932

1932

VIRGINIA HINCHLIFF

One of Lombard's most valuable gifts to Knox. Gina is sterling clear through. Once her friend, you're always her friend no matter what you may do. One more dip and her hair would have been red.

MILDRED HOFFLUND

This nice part about editing a section like this is the fact that you can take all the dirty pops you like at others, and get none yourself. Listen closely, public, and hear our villainous laugh.

VIRGINIA HOFFMAN

Alert and quick like a faun, yet underneath she's thoughtful, moody, and a little melancholy. If you know her, words are inadequate; if you don't, no description would be sufficient.

EVERETT HOPPER

A man of gentle actions and pleasing manners. Whatever he undertakes, he does whole-heartedly. He doesn't wait for applause, but goes his way rejoicing. "The world knows nothing of its greatest men."

HELEN HOUSH

The owner of a bewitching pair of brown eyes which speak for themselves. They reflect friendliness, a cheerful disposition, and a wide range of interests.

MARION HUMPHREYS

Cold calculation and solid reasoning distinguish this man from his fellows. He can't be bothered with frivolities. That coldly appraising eye of his makes the simpler sex feel like frisking doits.

MILAN HUMPHREYS

There is something of the poet in Milan. He never indulges in idle chatter; he keeps his opinions to himself. He is extremely sensitive, and we wouldn't be surprised to hear that he sees air-castles and splendid visions.

ALFRED JACOB

His fraternity brothers call him "Jake". He is universally liked by both girls and boys. They call him a darn good guy.

ROBERT JAMIESON

Always belittlin'. He crabs and grousches and grumbles and growls about everything. It's a deep, dark secret, but he's just a little sentimental underneath the crust. How he can play basketball and baseball!

WILLIAM JENCKS

Because of his light complexion and blue eyes, people often take him for a Swede, but prepare yourself for shock—he's an Irishman, and a true one, at that.

GALE

PAUL JOHNSON

He is seldom concerned, never hurries, and occasionally he arrives at something on time. He'll sing through life like he sings through college, on a billowy white cloud, agreeably.

WITMER KERNS

With all his heartiness, there is something unapproachable about Wit. He keeps his place, and expects others to do the same. He's a combination of Southern cordiality and iron reserve.

WILLIAM KORDSIEMON

Little Boy Blue, a deplorable lad, Naturally good, but wants to be bad; Intelligent and wise, desperately he tries to be afflicted with l'ennui.

MERRILL LARSON

He doesn't let college interfere with his social life. He attends every college party, and shows a marked preference for the Roof to the Libe. He seems to like reposing in the midst of the Larson family.

WALTER LEWIS

Walt knows how to shoulder responsibility. While the rest of us sink in the hole, we have a sneaking suspicion that he has the whip hand when it comes to finances. He has a gift for dropping appropriate little remarks.

HELEN LINDROTHE

A quiet, industrious mathematician who has the ambition and essential qualities to become a teacher. She possesses a calm, satisfying faith in things, once you get to know her.

NELLIE LOOMIS

It was a good old-fashioned name until Loomis added something new, snappy, and entirely charming to it. Her sparkling brown eyes defy anyone to call her pre-war stuff. Her modern spirit does not prevent her from having an unlimited generosity.

WILLIAM LOOMIS

If Bill had ever taken time to go to college, he would have been a success. He chose instead a liberal, liberal education. Brother of the preceding.

MARY McELDOWNEY

(With an editor's prerogative, we can cut this write-up. Thanks anyway, Milly, for "them kind woids."

CHRISTINE McFERRAN

Our private example of the perfect American girl. She's healthy and happy, radiating vim, vigor, and vitality. Christine is exactly the right person to have the honor of being president of this gang.

INEZ McLAUGHLIN

If Inez reverts to her type
We know what will happen,
Goatish feet and furry ears
Will ketch her while she's nappin'.

NANCY McLELLAN

Even John Erskine has heard of Nancy's lovely soprano voice, but even he can't coax her away from chemistry. She bubbles with the zest of living, and those raven tresses are splendiferous.

RALPH McWILLIAMS

When he was in high school, he recited in an assembly a sentimental little poem, "I'm called little Buttercup". He has a most benignant and salubrious smile, and is especially fond of French.

HELEN MARKLAND

The guardian angel of many frosh who, without her aid, would struggle through another semester of math. Helen is studiously inclined, and her ability in mathematics is undeniable.

MORRIS MARSHALL

Forgive us, people, but try as though we did, we just couldn't drag one skeleton out of his closet. Evidently he has all good and no bad qualities. Just try and imagine him on a toot!

HENRIETTA MEMLER

She had her portrait on seven different pages of last year's GALE. That shows how popular she is with her associates. Hank is a whiz at all sorts of athletics; it's too bad for Jackson she can't go out for football.

BILL MENKE

When once impressed, he seldom changes his course of action. Once he was struck with the idea of becoming a business man; now everything centers about the attainment of that end. The monotony of the means justifies the ends.

JOHN MERGENER

He has been endowed with a great deal of understanding. He is humble and deeply reverent; he is infinitely gentle, like oil on troubled waters. Never intruding, never retreating, John is a perfect friend.

GEORGE MYERS

His quietness conceals a cool, observing nature. He is an example of that good breeding which tells of a training in the deliberate performance of details. His inclinations are athletic as well as academic.

ELSIE NIRDLINGER

Elsie is always in such a hurry to go somewhere, she's hardly still long enough for us to notice her long eyelashes. She's deliberation personified, and not especially merciful. Knox men, beware!

GALE

NELS NORDSTROM

Harper's has accepted a poem of his called "Credo" for its college anthology. Can we, grinding and gnashing our teeth in jealousy, say more?

HELEN NORRIS

Graceful slenderness, a degree of dignity, color, a dash of temper, and lovable prejudices. The citadel of her affections may have been stormed, but never taken.

MARY PALMER

Mary has something just a little different from anyone else, something that makes you think of pink rompers. There's a whole lot of real fun under a lot of would-be dignity. A lovable young lady.

MARION PETERSON

If a vote were to be taken to select the best natured co-ed with the best sense of humor, Pete would win by a large majority. She knows some riotously funny stories.

MONA PETERSON

Her main characteristic is her independence. Her self-reliance borders on stubbornness. Her main interest in Knox is Biology, but she plans to study art upon graduation.

LEONA PHILBLAD

"Devoted, anxious, generous, void of guile

DOROTHY PICKENS

A deliciously animated creature, all bubbling over. She'll talk you out of anything, and we might add, into anything. We'd say she was charming, and being the girl from Missouri, we'll bank on her to show you.

CARROLL PORTER

Carroll has been a member of the Knox cross-country team for two years. One of his favorite diversions is the study of nature. He is interested in music, and he likes Shakespeare. His friendship is not readily gleaned by those who find him reclusive.

EDITH PRESCOTT

In spite of two operations causing her to lose a year in college, Edith is well on her way to a "K" sweater. Life will find that there is no use knocking Edith down; she refuses to stay there.

BRUCE PRIMM

The tall curly-headed boy who would confiscate your only easy chair for use in a play is Don Juan Primm. The freshmen girls wish he wouldn't stay out of sight so much.

1932

1932

RICHARD RASMUSSEN

"Wee Dicky" is the combination of a diminutive twister on the gridiron, and a laughing, scowling playboy in his quieter moments. He lives in an impulsive universe of the altitudes of work, study, recreation, and even affection.

MARGARET RENSCH

Alive with humor and friendly sarcasm, Margaret can take a joke as well as crack one. She is serious-minded as well as quick to see the funny side. She is really acquiring an education.

LEE RIGGS

Lee is an enthusiastic football and basketball fan. He calls her the "Arizona Angel". Wonder what he'd call her if she came from Denver. She has a flair for sophisticated hats.

HOWARD RINEHART

Strong convictions, strong prejudices, and a strong constitution; these are the Moline Norseman's talents. There is a seriousness in his actions. While others fly to success or sink to failure, he plods along.

MARY ROBSON

She's reproduced out of some tremendous drama into a drab college campus. We suggested the knitting woman from the "Tale of Two Cities", which we thought was an honor, and she was aghast.

MARY ALICE ROLFE

Possessed of a scintillating wit, she hides it beneath a demure exterior. We'd never know she has it, but for the tell-tale twinkle in the corner of her eye. The string of offices she holds is indication of executive ability.

JANE ROSS

Any fellow would be proud to have her for his girl, and any girl would be happy to have her for a friend. She's as sweet and unspoiled as she can be, but if you admire girls in direct proportion to the noise they make, stay away from Jane.

MARTIN SANDBURG

We are certainly glad the class of 1932 caught up with Mart. He has an interesting mind behind that slow, drawling manner. There is nothing funnier than a hot argument between him and Ann.

JENNIE SCHLAF

Complete stoicism, calm fortitude, impassive almost to the point of indifference. Everything she does is right; she never makes a mistake. A constant plaintive cry, "Where is Bink?"

MARY SCOTT

She has the earmarks of a perfect scholar. School work interests her; therefore she works diligently. She has unique impressions. She eats up Shakespeare; Richard III is one of her favorites.

DELBERT SHEA

Ladies and Gents, here before your very eyes, you see the only masculine Mona Lisa in captivity. What goes on behind that faintly amused smile? Does he laugh with us or at us? Life seems to be a big funny paper to this lucky Irisher.

DORIS SHEARER

Brilliance she has, tact, and savoir-faire, ability in each thing to which she turns her hand; all these, and what is infinitely more, a personality engaging in its multiplicity of details.

MAUREEN SKINNER

Maurine has the faculty for remaining unperturbed in all situations. She likes to draw, write short stories, and has a great fondness for horses. We might add—sandy-haired men are her weakness.

RALPH SLOAN

Just an Irishman grown up in the town of Swedes. He claims that they send all the cracked Irishmen to Sweden as school-teachers. Ralph could run a fast hundred if he ever got up the ambition to keep going that far.

JOHN SMITH

"Dynamite" is an excellent conversationalist, because if you talk long enough, he will go to sleep. If, however, you catch him fully awake, you will find he has a remarkable knowledge of sports. A good fellow, and a valuable football man.

ROY SOPER

One would take Roy for a fairy out of a story-book, if it were not for his beard. He is one who would set the world on fire if someone would only light the match. He left us flat in the middle of the year.

ROBERT SPEER

When you hear the tap of baby feet, or a fiendish "Boop, boop-a-doop", you'll know it's Bob. His favorite hangouts are the Knox stage and our neighboring city to the south.

DAVID SPERRY

From obvious indications, Dave is a home loving soul. He doesn't care much for the public eye, but he's not so bashful on the basketball floor when he sinks those two-pointers.

LOUIS SPIEGLER

That strong right arm of his has pulled him into baseball, track, and swimming fame, but still the girls don't get a break. Oh'death, where is thy sting?

HAROLD STRAWBRIDGE

He has his ups and downs. What with operations and juvenile maladies and pivot position in basketball, Straw is kept right busy. He's one of the most friendly souls in Knox, but what, oh what became of his other two dimensions?

EDWARD STURTEVANT

When you think of Sturtevant, you immediately get a picture of Zanesville, Ohio, where you can cross the bridge and still be on the same side. They say he's writing a thesis on the country school teacher.

IONE SUNDBERG

She has a faculty for making friends and keeping them. We admire her calm reserve—her stoical attitude towards life. May we suspect her of literary aspirations?

HELEN SUREY

A full-blooded Knoxite in one semester, which is a compliment both to Knox and to Helen. A personality that excels in friendliness and a genuine radiation of helpfulness. She is always fair and square; she finds the best in everyone.

GERALD SWEAT

His ambitious hustling makes the rest of us feel like lazy louts. He has enough dynamic energy to push a locomotive from here to Chicago.

EVA TAYLOR

A little Delta Zeta who does her best to keep her wayward sisters in order. She is a typically industrious co-ed, what more could you ask?

ELIZABETH TEST

Cleverness is Betty's major trait. There seems to be no end to her novel ideas and dry wisecracks. She has no equal when it comes to matching wits. She's a stimulating little jack-in-the-box.

KATHERINE TRUESDELL

Tues left us in the middle of winter, and made us all weak with envy by going to sunny California. Her cheerfulness won her many friends at Knox.

RUSSELL VOORHEES

There is no violent disagreement in this man's make-up. A poor radical, but an agreeable fellow. He believes in something—others may believe the opposite—that's all right—and the world isn't so bad.

ANNA WEINMANN

Curly-headed Anna's taste for the great outdoors and athlete's togs are reflected in her cheerful, breezy laugh, and general wholesome attitude toward life.

LOUISE WEST

She wants to be famous. She craves the glamor of Bohemian life. Under a sophisticated veneer, she hides Byronic emotions, and underneath the emotions there is a strong faith in good old-fashioned ideals.

GALE

LOWELL WHITSITT

Zealous and loyal to his friends, interested in everything; there's nothing bored about Lowell. Although he has been in Knox only one semester, we recognize in him the standards of a perfect gentleman.

FRANK WILSON

Athletic prowess, the physical perfection of an Apollo Belyidere, and just as if that weren't enough, brains, good common sense, and modesty.

LOUISE WINTERBURN

You notice her on the street for her immaculate neatness. Frankness and extreme pride are her outstanding virtues.

LEROY WOLFE

A Wolfe in sheep's clothing. In fact, a young sheep, no more than a wooly white lamb. An innocent lamb-on-wheels, with a Mama Doll close by his side.

ARTHUR WOODS

Probably the best dressed man in college—sophisticated, slightly bored, with a droll sense of humor. We like that pipe of yours, Art.

WILFRED WOOLLETT

Here is Fireside Bill in person. Give him a good pipe, some soft, dreamy music, a comfy chair, and watch the results. W, double o, double l, e, double t.

KATHRYN GARDNER

With her darkly mysterious eyes and her passion for drooping earrings, one might suspect Kate of Gypsy ancestry. A more prosaic side of her character finds expression in her journalistic tastes.

The Sophomore Class

S Knox's own "Noble Experiment", the class of '33, first class of fraternity men and women to be pledged under the one year rule, swept into real prominence this year. Fighting under the handicap of being mere pledges, '33 went to the top.

First turning to football, we placed on the squad such huskies as Ashbaugh, Kemp, Wellman, Reid, Thompson, Moline, Bergstrom, Kennedy, McQuay, Magnuson, Matkoveik, Ken Nichols, Sanders, and Zinser. After football, our class gave to Trev's cagers Kemp, Ashbaugh, Sanford, Foley, Wellman, Lomax, Moline, and Dewey.

Sophomore girls stood high in every campus activity. Frances Bohle, Jean Willis, and Ruth Clark were on the Christmas Prom committee. Mary Liken, Sue Viertel, and Margaret Post held offices in L. M. I., while others held committee posts in that organization.

Lillian Evans, Mary DeCoster, Helen Ortman, and Irma Brodman were on the W. A. A. council. Erma Coffman was a member of Student Council. On Y. W. C. A. cabinet we had Margaret Post, Isabelle Terrill, Dorothy Sperry, and Irma Brodman.

Important work on all publications fell to sophomores. Bergstrom and Harrod were assistant managers of the "Siwasher"; Hugh Jencks, Louis Monaco, and Bill Weaver were business assistant on the "Student". Isabelle Terrill, Marjorie Evans, Scott Harrod, and Ruth Merdian were departments heads of the "GALE".

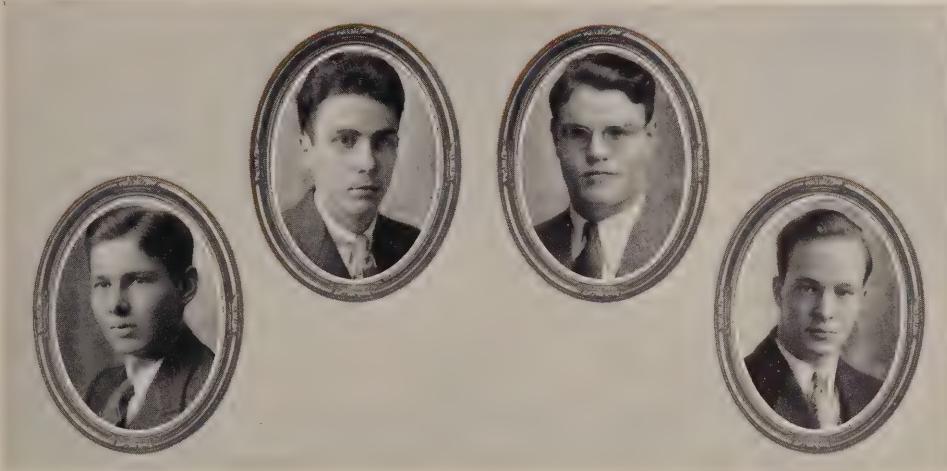

Players' Club enlisted the services of Hoffman, Foley, Gale, Hetzner, Tedman, Evans, Bogue and Lomax for much work this year. Debate took time and energy from Wargo, Evans, Center, and Larson.

'33 was fortunate in having a group of girls with both beauty and brains. For example, Isabelle Terrill was one of the few students to get straight "A's", and Mary DeCoster and Irma Brodman were R. O. T. C. Sponsors.

Sophomore Activity means only promise—but gradually '33 is attaining leadership in every field.

The Freshman Class

HE youngsters are about to shock you "ye high and mighty upper-classmen"; they are about to agree with you! This is not the "most promising class ever to enter the portals of Knox"; it is not, and we admit it. How could it be when the classes of '31, '32, '33 were, each in their turn, the very essence of versatility and promise?

The friendly, advisory, and curious spirit which was at first extended by upperclassmen soon died out. Signs appeared announcing the start of freshman submission. At times, perhaps, we did seem unruly but could that have been our excess energy bubbling over?

We apologize for being such curiosities that students other than freshmen found it necessary to attend our simple and wholesome parties.

The coach said that although the boys of '34 out for football were just examples of the young and romping new class, they showed mediocre ability and, with training, might become dim replicas, but replicas nevertheless, of the sturdy, stalwart, superb specimens which constitute this year's varsity. The freshman basketball men, we are ashamed to say, did not have a gentlemanly attitude; they won too many games.

The "little sisters" were taught to accept defeat with a smile and triumph with maidenly modesty. The sophomores, juniors, and seniors gave us a taste of their exceptional prowess while they were defeating us in all hockey games. Then, feeling sorry because we seemed to have lost all schoolgirl poise, they showed their exceptional generosity in allowing us to defeat them in all volley ball games.

We freshmen are noted for our "gift of gab"; therefore, the school was not surprised when two freshman men and two freshman women were chosen for the varsity debate squads.

Having proved our lack of merit we hereby offer those elected to our hall of insignificant fame.

BOYD HARRIS

Glaring because of their rarity are the few ties on Knox campus. Despite the fact that Boyd has been in college nearly a year, he still wears a necktie. Whatever the occasion, he is correctly and immaculately groomed. Boyd is our best dressed man.

Smiley

NEVIN SMILEY

One could never call Nevin retiring. It is generally understood that he has no trouble with lack of words—either in class, at church (?), at home, or on dates and we defy anyone to say that our most loquacious man is anything but interesting.

Armbruster

HAROLD ARMBRUSTER

Though no one has heard of Armie throwing down his cloak for some "Fair Elizabeth" we are sure he would do it gracefully should the occasion arise. Our tall, fine looking president is a gentleman and we are proud of our most gallant freshman.

Francia

JANE FRANCIA

As long as Jane is at Knox, all attempts of others to be the best dressed are futile. It may be that clothes make the girl—but in this case the clothes combine with the girl to make Jane our most stylish freshman.

Allen

WILLADELL ALLEN

Bill doesn't need to send for any course on "How to Be The Center of Every Group". She was chosen as our most talkative girl. Because of her wit plus common sense, people always go to Bill to get a word or two of entertainment and advice.

ALICE SWITZER

Louisa Alcott's charming, fun loving Meg does fit Alice.
"If all God's children are his thoughts,
And I believe 'tis true;
Then what a lovely thought it was

Alice is our most charming girl.

Switzer

Strasburger

JOE STRASBURGER

Joe is our cleverest boy and it is not only by his cleverness that he gets his A's. It takes an exceedingly bright boy to be mentally superior to most of us and at the same time to be so well liked by all of us.

Robinson

ENID ROBINSON

We are a happy class. We owe our gaiety to those of us who are always happy. Enie hasn't just a smile but an ever-ready laugh and witty remark. Where Enie is there is wit and laughter. She is our wittiest girl.

Adcock

REX ADCOCK

The general opinion is that there is no such thing as a bashful college man. We take the liberty to contradict that belief and offer Rex as an example of one—bashful and a freshman at that. It's an advantage for bashful folk are sought after.

Conger

VIRGINIA CONGER

There is nothing one admires more than modesty in a maiden—especially in a beautiful one. Though Virginia is reserved, one is always conscious of her presence. The tilt of her head and her refreshing coolness—surely these can belong only to our most demure girl.

Conservatory Underclassmen

IHE conservatory is fortunate this year in having such splendid talent to develop. Various fields are represented in this combined group including piano, organ, violin, and voice. It is often the case that not enough mention is made of these under-classmen—they have not made a name for themselves we say, why show any special interest in them? It is true their displays of talent have not been on the whole extraordinary, but they are slowly developing into capable seniors and we are expecting unusually fine graduating recitals from them.

The students in the group majoring in piano number nine all told, these being Edward Coe, Kathryn Lindstrom, Mabel Anderson, Miriam Pearson, Katherine Lindsay, Maxine Hult and Doris Miles. The organ students are Maxine Jackson, Katherine Lindsay, and Doris Miles. Violin proved popular with Ramona Leigh, Isabelle Terrill, and Florence Sass. The study of voice ranks next in popularity to the piano, there being five voice students in the group—Marguerite Miller, Elizabeth Swanson, Ellen Rackley, Ruth Barlow, Berniece Bennett, and Doris Ritchey. Public school music is a course taken by a number of students in the conservatory. Marguerite Miller, Lucille Lindstrom, Elizabeth Swanson, Maxine Hult, Ellen Rackley, Ruth Barlow, Berniece Bennett, Doris Ritchey, and Florence Sass are enrolled in this course.

The Coaches

HE Knox coaching staff consists of three members. Coach Earl Jackson is at the head of the athletic department and is assisted by Coach Dean Trevor and Ole Magnuson.

Coach Jackson came to Knox from Carleton where his reputation as a track coach was substantially established. In the past seven years, he has produced four State champion teams and two Midwest title holders. Professor Sherwin ably filled the vacancy left by Jackson who was on leave the last semester of last year.

Due to lack of material, last year's team did not meet with their usual success, but with Mr. Jackson's return and a wealth of new material, we are given promise of a successful season this year. Jackson is head football coach and has consistently turned out good, clean teams that carry the Siwash colors to a large majority of victories.

Coach Dean Trevor has been at Knox since 1926 and has established for himself the reputation of being a worthy coach both in basketball and in football. He is the line coach of Knox football teams and is the big reason why little ground is gained through our forward wall. This year's basketball team suffered the jinx all season. Consistently, hard fought, evenly matched, overtime games were lost by a single point. We are all hoping for better luck and expecting a successful season for the coming year.

"Ole" came to Knox from Corpus Christi in 1927. Since that time, he has coached the varsity line in football, the frosh football teams and varsity baseball. He has achieved real success in all of them and is especially consistent in freshman basketball. For the past three years, Knox frosh basketball teams have been worthy opponents for any team they have played.

The Varsity Managers

OMPETENT, energetic managers are as essential to the well-being and success of athletic teams as coaches, and they are almost as important. It is the sworn duty and privilege of the managers to care for all individual and team equipment, and to keep the fields, track and floor in shape. Much unpleasant, monotonous and otherwise uninteresting work is theirs to do, and they are seldom given the credit due their efforts.

When the football manager-elect failed to return to school last Fall, Gene Zendt, a member of the varsity squad for two years, was called upon to manage the team. Zendt understood the needs of a football team and under his handling the team came through the season in good shape.

Joe Burton cannot be charged with the disastrous season the basketball team went through. Bad breaks dogged the team all along, but Joe was ever faithful to his task. With his able corps of assistants, he always had the equipment in top shape. Trips were well planned and as far as Joe was concerned there was no reason why the team should not have been wholly successful.

Intra-mural sports begin when school opens in the Fall and the season is as long as the school year. Walt Lewis has efficiently directed the competition in the various sports this year. Although he is not charged with caring for the teams, the job of scheduling games and meets falls on his shoulders.

The job of managing the track team involves a long period of hard work. Early in the Fall the cross-country men and the more ambitious tracksters start training. From that time until the end of the school year the track manager is on duty at the Gym every afternoon. Willis Nash as manager of the 1930 track team was diligent in his work, and put forth every effort to make the life of the track man more attractive to aspirants. Voorhees is managing the 1931 team.

The 1930 baseball team was managed by Emmett Smith. Early and late all Spring, Smitty and his assistants toiled to keep the diamond in the condition demanded by finicky fielders. Some new equipment was provided, and freshman baseball received its first encouragement under the capable management of Smith. Larson is managing the 1931 team.

Winner of the Hunter Trophy

GALE

Charles Kusenda

THE honor done him receiving the Hunter Trophy seems to become greater with passing years. Perhaps the memories of the men represented by the names engraved on its surface, great athletes—keen minds, have grown vast and nebulous; perhaps like all traditions this one becomes more and again more hallowed with age.

But shorn of all this indefinable something—dream stuff, the Hunter Award remains the highest honor that any Knox athlete can receive. Each year the Knox senior with letters in two major sports and with the highest scholastic record in his junior year receives the cup given in 1920 by Professor George W. Hunter who first named the qualifications of the winner.

This year the name of Charles Kusenda, whose consistently excellent work in basketball and baseball together with his splendid scholastic record set an enviable standard, is placed on that growing roll of honor. On the diamond he was known for his speed and precision in the infield, and on the hardwoods for his cool, calculating, hard playing at forward.

The 1930 Football Season

It was the ambition of every player at the outset of the 1930 season to definitely cinch the Conference championship, to which our title was rather doubtful last year. That objective was not realized, but the success of the team in its season's work was more than satisfactory with its record of five wins, two losses and one tied score.

The first contest was with Macomb who proved an easy victory for the Knoxmen—too easy perhaps, for when Augustana was met two weeks later on Willard Field, a spirit of overconfidence prevailed which proved fatal. The score was 13-6, Augustana!

But the following Saturday the boys came back to win over Lake Forest, 20-0. Then prepared for a rather stiff battle, the Siwashers traveled to Jacksonville where they met Illinois College on their field and smashed an otherwise successful homecoming by a 7-0 score. Little Nick scored both counters.

At Cornell, Knox was downed by a 7-6 score. This was a clean, hard fought contest at which Knox suffered because of costly fumbles. Thompson made the touchdown.

Then came what was conceded to be the most difficult game of the season. Coe, the strong undefeated Midwest contender, was favored to win a hard fought victory over Siwash, but Knox, mustering that force which lies latent till the eve of a great struggle, met the confident Coemen and completely outfought and outplayed them. Nichols, Button, and Murphy starred for Knox. The tied score of 7-7 did not fairly indicate the superior playing of the Knoxmen.

According to tradition, Knox and Monmouth met on Thanksgiving Day, this year in the Maple City. The Knox victory of 7-0 was overshadowed by the injury and subsequent death of Stanley McConnell, a splendid athlete and man. In this game the defense activities of Wilson and Murphy must be mentioned as vital factors in the Knox victory.

Knox is proud of a team that proved its value as this season's did, playing in all kinds of weather, under all sorts of difficulties. Severe injuries handicapped many of the reliable men from the first game. Captain Howe had a bad shoulder, and was out of the line-up for several games. Babcock crashed into the side lines in the first game and smashed his knee. This injury practically put the big back out for the season. Konarska and Nichols, former Lombard stars, helped to fill the gaps left by Chuck and Bab.

Besides those players already mentioned, the consistent work of Maxfield, Center, Divis, Dare, and Shearer merits special attention. These are men to be counted upon at all times.

The work of the freshman team this year was rather disappointing. Games with the Abingdon Military Academy and the Monmouth freshmen were lost by large scores. However, this bunch of boys contains some very promising material, material that shall and must replace the spaces in the ranks left open by those who will start a greater game.

CHARLES HOWE

Again this year the Knox squad was led by a powerful, levelheaded, clean player, known to everyone as "Red". Knox may be proud that it had such a mighty football man to succeed Hitchcock. It may be safely said that "Chuck's" guard was one of the few places that other teams respected, for it was few times that substantial gains were made through it. We will miss seeing him pull out of the line to make possible many of our touchdown runs.

FRANK SHEARER

Frank was the man who could be called on when that final yard was needed to keep the march going to the goal. Despite an injury to his shoulder which kept him out for a few games, he did some mighty good blocking and plunging which added much to our scoring power. We may congratulate Frank on his four successful years.

JACK MURPHY

Jack was the boy who kept the opposing backfields in constant fear with his consistent long broken field runs, which usually ended with another score for Knox. On account of his exceptional runs, he took a great deal of punishment, but always came right back and "hit them another lick." It looks like a mighty task for Jackson to find a ball carrier of Jack's ability to replace him next year.

JAMES MAXFIELD

Max leaves a record of three years of good performance on the annals of Knox football as he leaves this year. As a lineman, his charge and offensive power was well above average and his consistency at tackling was very dependable. Max played with his head as well as his body and was never rattled, bringing out what three years of experience can develop in a man.

SUMNER COLLINS

"Tum", because of his ability to diagnose and smear plays, proved that a six man line could be used successfully. He embodied that "never say die" spirit which has so typified the Knox football teams for the past years. Siwash will not only lose a high calibre football player, but also a fine sportsman and a valuable fighting center.

ELLSWORTH DARE

To be a man on a team that is valuable in any line position is an attribute to which recognition should be paid, and this is the accomplishment of "Elzie". He has played center, tackle and guard, with unequalled fight in every position. He smeared plays for losses, blocked with consistent efficiency, and was outstandingly aggressive on the team. Needless to say he will be sorely needed and missed next year.

WILLIAM DIVIS

"Bill" was the little man with a big man's fight. His work in the Coe game was highly commendable, and despite his size, he was one of the hardest tacklers on the team. "Bill's" indomitable fight and courage carried him through many tough spots where others would not have attempted to go. He is a senior and will be greatly missed from the squad.

GLEN KISKADDON

"Kissy" brought glory to himself and his teammates when he made possible the touchdown against Coe. He was skillful in smearing end runs and added to that a meritable work in getting down under punts and receiving passes. This is Kiskaddon's last year, what more can be said than that he will be greatly missed and sorely needed next year.

AARON SHAVER

"Tink" rose to display true scrap when he crashed through with a first class performance in the Cornell game. When he went into the game, it was with the determination to do his work as well as the one he replaced and not once did he fail. "Tink" had the grit and attitude so necessary for good football. We wish he were coming back next year.

FRANK WILSON

Frank was a scrappy, consistent player; one who smeared many "would-be touchdown plays" around his end. He missed very few tackles and was fast in getting down under punts. Frank fights hard and aggressively and should prove his for another successful year as co-captain. We wish him power when he and his co-horts meet the army next year.

CHARLES CENTER

"Chip" played a steady, fine game the entire season, missing very few minutes of play. On offense, he was a cool, level-headed field general doing the punting and passing; as a blocker, he was the source of many of the squad. On defense he was sometimes shifted to fullback due to his sure, hard tackling. "Chip" will be calling the signals again next year as co-captain and is expected to turn in an even better game than this year.

WALTER BUTTON

Wally divided his time this year between the halfback and quarterback positions, doing outstanding playing in both places. Because of his versatility, he was recognized as one of the triple threat men who always won the admiration of those who saw him in action. Wally played his third and last year this year and will be greatly missed on the squad next fall.

PAUL BABCOOK

Paul was the big plunging back who put the scoring total up with his mighty ground-gaining capacity. It seemed no unusual thing to see "Bab" striding down the field with three or four men hanging on trying to stop him, but stopping him was well nigh impossible. Had it not been for his hurt knee, Coe would have been sent home a beaten team.

WILLIAM ASHBAUGH

"Tuffy" was a hard hitting, steady tackle who came to Knox from Lombard's squad. Although he was not a regular starter in the games, his services were an indispensable aid in many of the pinches which called for alternates whose abilities were as great as the men whom they replaced. Ashbaugh will be back next year and is expected to fill one of the tackle positions as a regular.

JOHN SMITH

"Smitty" was the guard whose blazing striped pajamas did much toward cinching the Turkey Day game with Monmouth. His one fault lay in the fact that he was too stubborn to be agreeable to opposing teams and move out of the way of line plunges, consequently his defensive fight was a constant barrier to line plays. John will be seen next fall as a valuable man in next year's line.

DANIEL KEMP

Dan is another sophomore who made good this year, playing smartly on offense and full of fight on defense. His combined weight and careful judgment made him valuable for both breaking up plays and spotting enemy air attacks. Another fortunate break is that Dan will be back next year and will add much to the potentiality of the line.

GEAN REID

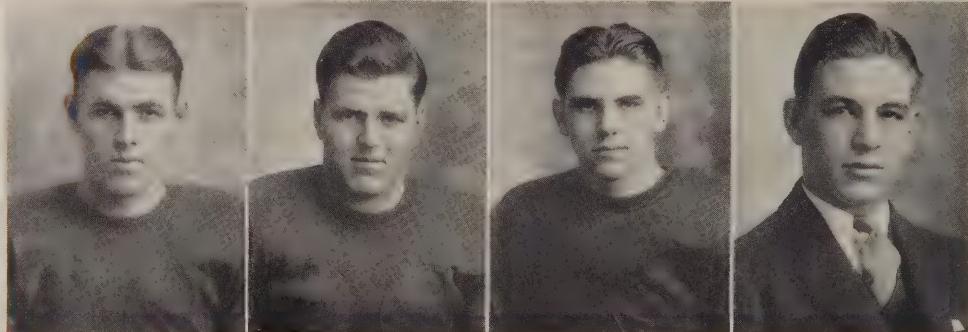

Reid, as a football man, is a second edition of his older brother. He combined weight with speed to kill many plays before they were under way. This is Reid's first year as a varsity lineman, and with the ability he has exhibited so far, big things may be looked forward to from him in the next two years.

CHESTER WELLMAN

Chet is the potent end who should be given great credit for the Thanksgiving Turkey, which he gained for the squad when he tore down the field on the receiving end of a touchdown pass. He is just a sophomore but already has shown the calibre that develops into leadership. Chet will doubtless be an important man on the team next year. More power to him!

GENE ZENDT

Gene was our competent football manager this year. Due to injuries received during practice, he was forced to give up a promising career as a halfback on the Siwash eleven. He, knowing the game and the team members, fitted well into his appointed position and served the squad well.

LEWIS NICHOLS

"Little Nick" transferred to Knox this year and by the end of the season had convinced everyone that it isn't always the big fellow that is mighty. On account of a bad ankle, he was out of play for a time but he shook it off long enough to display some very neat and shifty ball carrying. Unfortunately, Nick too, leaves us this year.

CHARLES KONARSKA

"Chuck" came from the Lombard squad and was a typification of the spirit which both schools have hoped for. There was not a man on the squad more admired or better liked than Konarska, and he merited it. He was a steady, consistent, plugging, never quitting player who never said much but always did plenty. "Chuck" played cleanly and with an attitude which won him the admiration of opponents. He is sorely missed and we need more like him.

FRANK THOMPSON

"Tommy" is a sophomore transfer from Lombard and combined weight with power to prove himself the makings of a valuable fullback. His best performance was in the Illinois game when he consistently plowed through for first downs. If Tommy comes back he should develop into a master of the ground gaining art.

DONALD BELLINGER

Don carried Dame Misfortune with him all through the season due to a recurring knee injury. He was held back from displaying his true ability because of this, but near the end of the year was well enough to show true ball carrying in the Coe game. Don has finished his football this year.

The 1930 Basketball Season

ITH Strawbridge, Jamieson, Kusenda, Wilson, Sperry and Glaub from last year's squad, Wellman and Kemp from the Frosh, and Konarska and Lomax from Lombard all reporting to Coach Dean Trevor, the prospects for a successful season were bright.

In a ragged game with St. Ambrose on the 19th of December, the Knoxites managed to win by a score of 26 to 24. Their play was not exceptional, due to lack of team-work, but there was a showing of future power. Strawbridge led the scoring with ten counters.

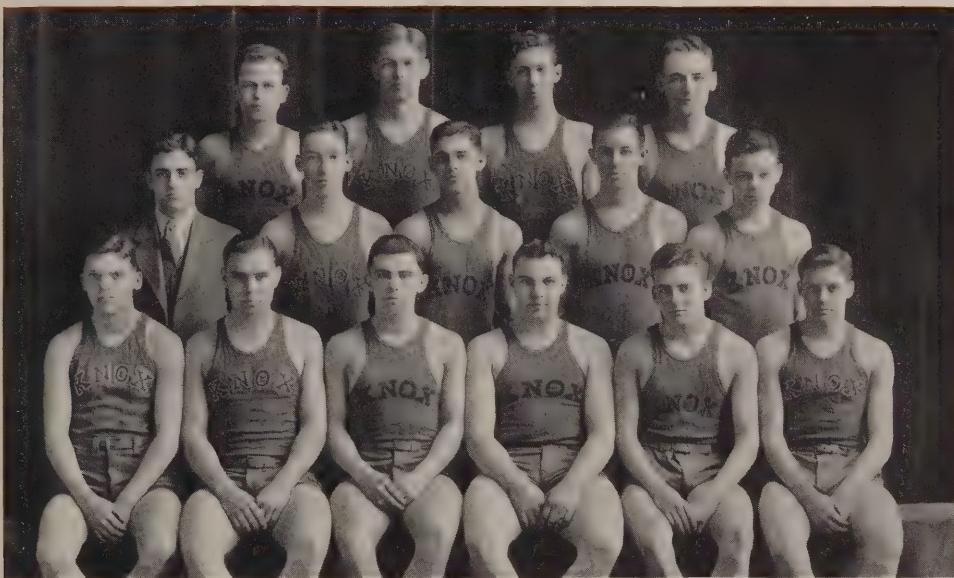

Facing the tough Norsemen from Carleton after the vacation, the team was beaten by a score of 25 to 12. There was a noticeable improvement in the team, but the height and experience of the Carleton five was too much for them.

Next journeying into Wisconsin on Jan. 16th and 17th, they met Ripon and Beloit and were defeated both times. Ripon won by means of a boy named Johnson who scored 22 of their 39 points, while Strawbridge turned in 14 of the Siwasher's 36. At Beloit the next night Knox lost 29 to 26, after being ahead at the half 14 to 12. While the Varsity was away the Frosh went to Monmouth and were beaten 27 to 26. The game was close and hard fought, and Lewis was the star of the Purple yearlings, scoring nine points.

The next two encounters were lost by large margins, Western Teachers winning by 35 to 23, and Bradley 35 to 18. In both games the fight that had been present before was lacking. Preliminary to the Western game, the Frosh turned in a victory over the Western reserves to the tune of 29 to 20 with Cornwell scoring 13 of the victors' points.

On Jan. 31st, Cornell won a close game by the score of 27 to 26. Trailing 16 to 8 at half-time, the Siwash outfit came up to a 21 to 20 lead, only to lose it in the last few minutes. Kusenda and Strawbridge led the attack that failed in the last minute.

Monmouth was forced to use an overtime period to win on Feb. 3rd, by a score of 22 to 21. Fouled in the last seconds of the over-time, Cognati sunk the free-throw after the game had ended to allow Monmouth to win. In the close fought, nip and tuck battle Knox was led by Strawbridge and Jamieson.

Lawrence came on Feb. 7th to administer the third one-point, and eighth consecutive defeat to the Knox five. Far behind at the half the Purple fought in vain and lost 21 to 20. Thus far in the season there were no wins for Siwash in either loop.

Still under some bad influence, the team dropped the second game with Western 49 to 35. On Feb. 10th, a few days later, they showed more fight and team-work than ever before, and for a time it seemed as if the team would win. However, Smith of the Northern Teachers of DeKalb scored 11 points to help his mates win 34 to 29. Kusenda scored 10 for Knox and Jamieson played a fine game. The Frosh in the opener avenged their previous beating by Monmouth, and trounced them 21 to 13. Cornwell again led the scoring with Lewis next.

At Monmouth on Feb. 17th, the team failed to make up for the previous defeat, and were again beaten by the Scots. Monmouth scored 28 points of which Huggins got 14, while Knox had to be content with 19. Jamieson and Lomax fought hard for the lost cause.

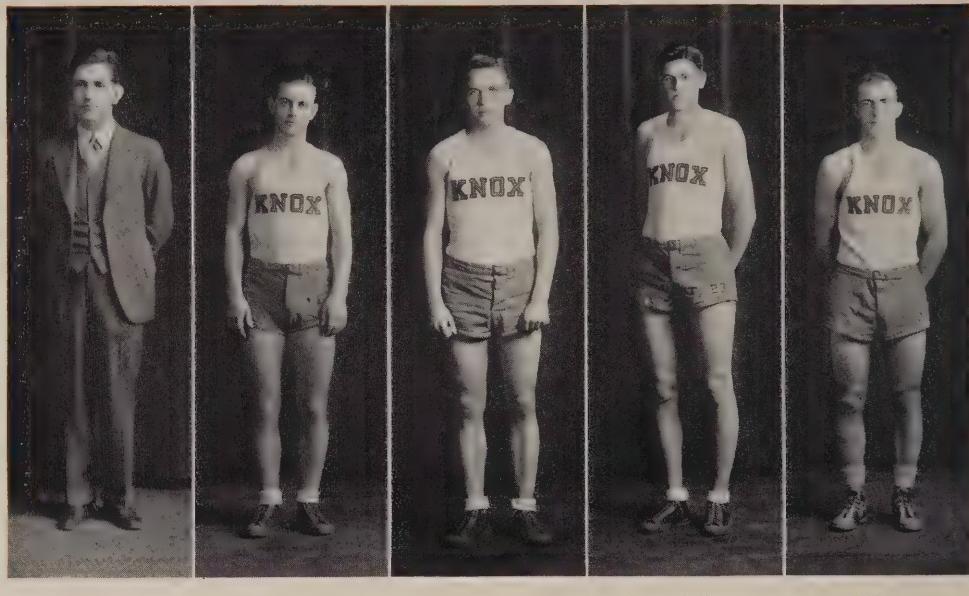

On Feb. 24th, Augustana inflicted the 12th straight defeat on the Knox cagers with a score of 32 to 27. Strawbridge was honor-man for the Purple and scored 11 points.

Perhaps a little sore because of the twelve in a row, and wishing to finish the season in a good fashion, Trevor and the boys went to Coe on the 28th of February and set a new Mid-West scoring record. After the adding machine had been in use it was discovered that the total was 58 for Knox and 34 for Coe. Of these Knox points the lanky Strawgarnered 18, Wellman 17 and Kemp 12. A faultlessly functioning offense resulted in a comeback in the second twenty minutes scoring 41 points after being behind at the half-time.

The team ended the season by defeating Augustana 35 to 30 on their own floor March 3rd, with Strawbridge and Jamie leading the attack.

JOE BURTON: Long experience in managing teams always helps, and Joe has been with the gang for four years. A good manager is needed to keep the boys in clothes and accessories, and although the team didn't win all the time, Joe did his best for them. A manager always gets the tough end of the deal but Joe stood the gaff well; no one wanted a better manager.

BOB JAMIESON: Jamie, playing his second year on the regulars was one of the old faithfuls. He started out at guard, and then played forward for a few games. His crafty dribbling, and nice eye were of distinct advantage to the team, and his guarding was of the best. All are looking forward to even greater things from Jamie when he plays his third and last season next winter.

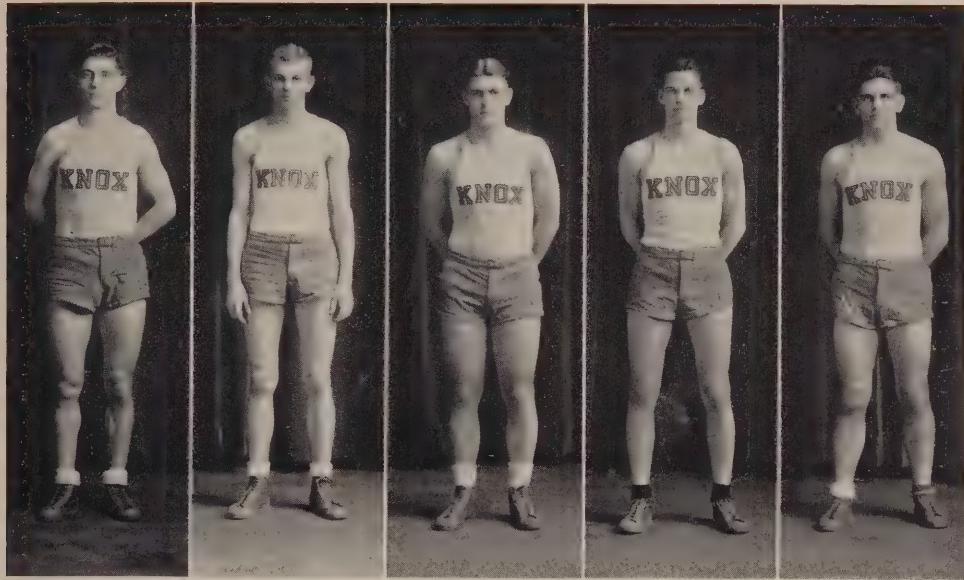

DAVE SPERRY: Dave didn't get into all the games, but when Trevor did put him into the line-up, it was certain that he would give a good account of himself. Never spectacular, Dave relied on his steadiness and shooting ability to take him along as a forward. Next year when he returns as a senior, Dave should perform nicely for the coach.

TED STRAWBRIDGE: For anyone to outjump Ted is almost unheard of. One tall drink-of-water tried it with all his six feet five and failed miserably, as did all the other opposing centers. In addition to being able to jump, Straw could shoot a basket now and then. In fact he led the team scoring for the year with 126 points. Sleepers were his specialty, and they were certainly a help to the team. Since he has one more year to play, no one will worry about a good center for Siwash for a while yet.

FRANK WILSON: Another Junior, and another guard. A football player by nature—co-captain next year—is this pride of Knoxville and North Kellogg Street. As a guard, Frank was steady, dependable, and was never known to lose his head. He didn't play much of the time, but when he did, his opponent found something in his way most of the time. Next year he should put a fine finish on an already sparkling record.

CHUCK KUSENDA: One of the two seniors on the squad and a forward for TKE and the coach to be proud of is this small, shifty, black-haired fellow. A prime factor in every game both on the offense and the defense was Chuck. This year was the third for him, and as usual his uncanny shooting eye was responsible for many of his team's points. Next year this position will be hard to fill, for Chuck was there with the goods all the time.

BOB GLAUB: The other senior on the squad was Bob. He played center or guard as Coach Trevor wanted, and filled both jobs well. His height, second only to Strawbridge, was a vital factor in his guarding and jumping. Although not a regular, Bob gave his best whenever called upon, and he will be missed next year.

DAN KEMP: A football and basketball star on last year's Frosh aggregation, Danny came back this year to win his letter in both sports, and to play a fine game as forward for Trev. A mainstay in the line, he played a steady game at forward and could always be counted on to give his best and score a few odd points to help the Purple on their way. Though he wasn't spectacular either on the gridiron or the court, he was steady as a rock, and could always be relied upon.

STAN LOMAX: Stan was a newcomer from Lombard, and one that will be remembered here as a fighter of no mean ability. A sophomore, and not too robust looking, Stan had more pep and fight than almost any other member of the squad. When Trevor wanted a man to guard and guard well, Lomax was there ready to work. Paired with either Jamieson or Wellman, Stan played a fine game all season long and well earned his letter.

CHET WELLMAN: Another sophomore, and also a teammate of Kemp's from River-side. As an end in football he was fine, and as a forward or guard in basketball, there was not much lacking in Chet. He could sink baskets from almost any angle, and did so whenever given the chance. Although a bad ankle handicapped him some, he turned in the second highest score of the season. Along with Lomax, Chet should keep Siwash up in the basketball world for the next two years.

The 1930 Track Season

Handicapped by the loss of several outstanding trackmen through injuries and by the heavy toll taken among them by scholarship, the 1930 Knox track team was saved from disgrace by the brilliancy of the remaining few.

Willis Nash stepped in among the track boys and netted for himself about the hardest job of them all, managing the track team, since the physical condition of the track men must be carefully guarded and their muscles and tendons promptly attended to. Nash was always on the job with plenty of equipment, and he served his men faithfully.

As captain last year, "Noisy" Taylor made name and fame for himself on the cinder paths of Siwash. He is the greatest sprinter that Knox has ever had, and his absence from the team this year will be a great loss to the squad. "Noisy's" best time for the 100 is 9.6 and for the 220 is 21.5. He holds the Mid-west and Little Nineteen Conference records in both events.

Kenneth Elliott finished up his fourth year on the Knox cinder path last season, and although he didn't blaze forth with any records and emerge in a haze of glory, he earned his "K" by good consistent work. Kenny began in his freshman year by earning a letter and has won many points for Knox in the 880 and as a member of the mile relay team for the past three years.

Jim Tennery beginning in his sophomore year annexed honors and points for Knox through his ability to put the shot. Last year Jim as a senior won many first places, and in the Mid-west meet, he cast the shot for a distance of 44 feet 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches, just one-half inch short of the conference record held by Dr. Speers of Knox. As a discus thrower Jim was always a pretty sure point getter.

The team could always be sure that when Sam Kelly stepped out in the distance runs that he was doing his best for them, and he always ran a steady, good race. Quiet and dependable, always training conscientiously, Kelly helped a great deal to pep up the morale of the team.

Milton Muelder made his adieu and farewell to the track squad last season and has by this time probably stepped up a few rungs on his ladder of success. Aside from being a crack scholar and student, a Phi Beta Kappa, and on the library staff, "Milt" had marked abilities in the high jump. Although he never broke any records, Milt was a fairly consistent scorer in his event and he came through the season with a couple of firsts tacked on to his name.

Chet Sherman started out in his sophomore year with turning in surprises, and he kept up his good work last season. Aside from being one of the most indespensable members of the mile relay team, Chet's pet event was the 440 yard dash. Running second to few in this event, Chet promises to be one of the outstanding track men this year, and he is captain-elect.

Aside from running the 440 and the 880, and being a member of last year's baseball nine at the same time, Jack Murphy was a well deserved member of last year's mile relay team. Murph's running always drew from the crowd a great deal of applause, and his good old Irish blood, coupled with fight and determination, always made Jack a smooth and flashy runner.

Lithe, agile, super-developed, and diminutive, Paul Church would leap into the air, and after clearing the bar at some such altitude as eleven feet and more in the pole vault, five feet seven and some odd inches in the high jump, the little brunette would drop to the ground, satisfied that he at least had done his best for "Knox All Glorious".

Bill Beattie was doomed to a big disappointment last year at the beginning of the track season, when on the eve of the first meet of the year he hurt his knee in such a way that he was out of track for most of the season. His specialties, however, are the mile relay and the high hurdles. Bill is one of Coach Jackson's most conscientious trainers, and we all want to see Beattie do big things this year.

Louis Spiegler, in his sophomore year, earned his third letter of the season in track by crashing through in a few field events. Most of his points were accounted for in the javelin throw. Louie has two more years to chalk up records on the track annals at Knox, and if he continues to develop will make a valuable man for Old Siwash.

Track Summary

On March 15th, the Knox trackmen opened the season with a triumph over Western to the tune of $71\frac{1}{2}$ to $59\frac{1}{2}$. Captain Taylor starred in winning the 100 and 220 yd. dashes, and McBride copped firsts in both the low and high hurdles. At the Armour Tech. Invitational Meet, held at Stagg Field three weeks later, Knox took fifth place. Taylor, by an outstanding performance placed first in the "100" and the "220" dashes, and Tennery, Sherman and Elliott each annexed points for the Alma Mater.

At Monmouth, on May 10th, the Scotch broke the long run of eighteen consecutive dual meet victories and captured the meet by an 82 to 49 score. From the State Meet Coach Sherwin's boys emerged with third place. Taylor tied the existing 100 yard dash record of 9.8, formerly held by Swanson of Lombard, and ran the 220 in 21.8 for a new Little Nineteen record. Tennery boosted things along by a slam in the shot put. Sherman placed second in the 440, and Elliott, Beattie, Murphy and Sherman took second in the mile relay.

The Mid-West Meet, at Lawrence College, closed the season for the Siwashers. The treat of the day came when Captain Taylor, premier sprinter of the Mid-West and Little Nineteen Conference, ran the century in 9.6 and the 220 in 21.5. Taylor came within one tenth of a second of the world record for the 100 and clipped three tenths of a second from the old Mid-West record in the 220. Jim Tennery's last toss of the shot for Knox went 44 feet $9\frac{1}{2}$ inches, within one-half an inch of the record for that event.

The 1930 Baseball Season

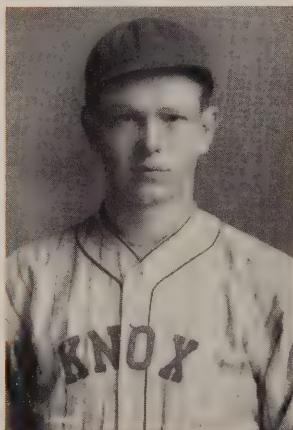

Old man Hard Luck and a colored gentleman named Page managed to get the Indian sign on the Knox ball club last Spring, and as a result, the team turned in four wins and six losses. In spite of the record of games won and lost, Knox really came out ahead. Knox scored 71 runs to opponents 63; 117 hits to opponents 99; 25 stolen bases to opponents 4; 32 errors to opponents 39. The team's batting average for the season was .312.

Captain Gibbs did some excellent work in his last season and it is too bad he couldn't have had a more successful one. His receiving was without flaw and his strategy showed his usual ability. He hit over .300 and his bingles were timely.

Manager Smith handled the affairs of the team efficiently. Equipment and playing field were kept in good shape, and details of trips and games were well arranged.

"Uncle Jim" Hay did some fine work in left field, and could always be counted on for a hit when one was needed. Jim was one reason for the team's good spirit. His hits averaged .367.

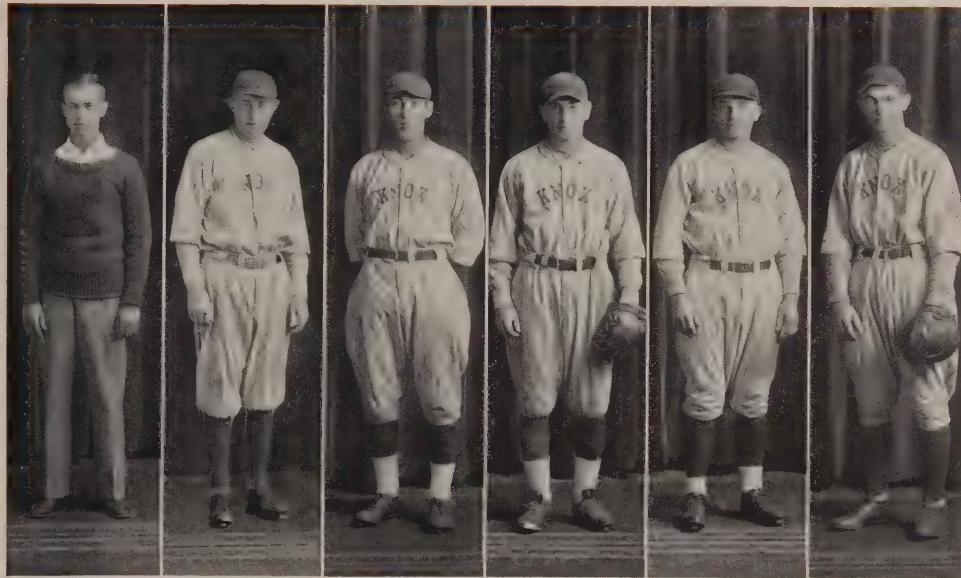

Vance Shafer was the kind of a ball player that makes the coach's life pleasanter. "Shafe" was always on hand ready to do anything for the betterment of the team. He did some nice work behind the plate and was a utility fielder.

Nate Jerald was forced to divide his time between the tennis court and the baseball diamond and did nice work both places. His fielding at second was always accurate and speedy. Nate didn't handle the stick so well but he was always in there with the chatter.

The logical man to fill the gap left at second when Jamie was called in to pitch was Bill Divis. Bill performed at the plate in good style and developed a queer habit of beating out bunts. Though at times his fielding was erratic he usually managed to come up with the ball in his mitt.

Chuck Kusenda, captain of the 1931 team, was perfect at first, never missing a thing on his side of the diamond. He did some nice work with the stick and his line of talk kept the team going. This is Kusie's last year and we are expecting big things for him and from him.

Jack Murphy was one of the fastest men in the league on bases. He led the team in stolen bases, and was lead off man all season. His batting average was .439. His work in center field was excellent.

Louie Spiegler was another handy man with the club. He hit well over .300, though now and then he splintered a bat in his effort. When Jerald was playing tennis, Lou held down second and very few grounders got past him. He will do some pitching this year and appear on second otherwise.

The hot corner was kept fairly cool through the efforts of George Gold. He batted clean-up all season and turned in a .360 average. George is a heady ball player. This year will be his last.

"Scotch" Jamieson was pressed into service on the mount early in the season and alternated between the box and short all Spring. He pitched some mighty good ball on several occasions and the few hits that he usually gave were always scattered.

"Bink" Alford was expected to open the season on the mound, but couldn't get any control to start. He did some excellent hurling later in the season. We are expecting a lot from him this year.

"Del" Shea didn't find himself till the season was half over. He was on second and in the outfield by turns. With Captain Gibbs on the bench with a sore thumb, Shea found himself in a mask behind the plate. His receiving and strategy were excellent. He specialized on bingles and batted .333.

Proving that persistence always pays, Jim Switzer came out last year and made his letter. He was a perfect fielder and could lay down neat bunts.

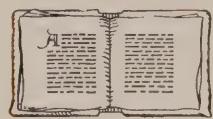

Our one time "Iron Man", Paul Block, was forced to give up baseball after a few games because of his arm.

Golf, 1930

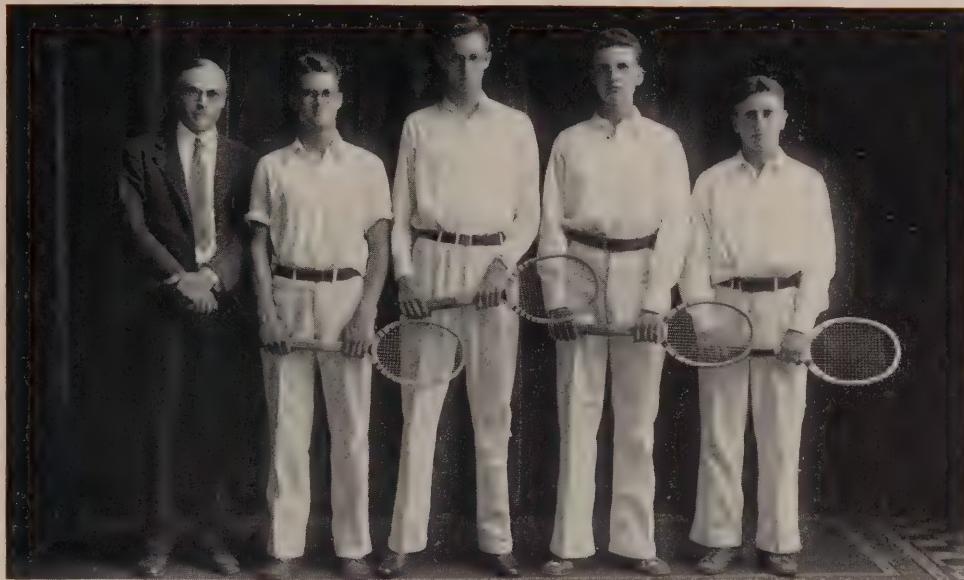

THE 1930 golf team again came through with flying colors to win the I. I. A. C. championship and to retain the emblematic loving cup.

Knox has upheld its title in state meets for five seasons and this year's outlook appears very promising. At the intra-mural tryout matches, held a month previous to the state meet, George Dyson, Richard Hoover and Loring Helfrich succeeded in qualifying for the team. Walter Button was qualified as the fourth member, who is an alternate.

Dyson, Hoover and Helfrich journeyed to Peoria and swept the large field of contestants for the state championship. George Dyson, who has been a member of Knox golf teams for two years, carried away second prize in the individual competition. It was later discovered that the winner of the state title was ineligible and the championship was forfeited to Dyson.

Hoover graduated last year, leaving Dyson and Helfrich as reliable contenders to repeat the success of former years. These two men have played the game a great deal and we expect to retain our title through their efforts. Helfrich made the team during his sophomore year and this year he is expected to stroke his way with Dyson to another state championship.

Tennis, 1930

THE 1930 tennis squad under the tutelage of Coach Carl W. Strow had a highly successful season from all standpoints. The strength of the squad was bolstered considerably by Nathan Jerald, who was No. 1 man. Jerald's agility and sureness of stroke made his performance outstanding. Allan St. Clair and John Gray were both veterans of two campaigns, while Helfrich was a newcomer to the game.

The team succeeded in winning five out of seven matches from the Macomb teachers, Coe, Iowa Wesleyan, and Bradley, and entered the district meet of the Little Nineteen a favorite to win. It upheld its reputation by winning the doubles, and by placing Jerald in the finals of the singles at Peoria, where the State Meet was held. Here our team met defeat in the semi-finals at the hands of the team that finally won the State Championship. Jerald, our finalist in the singles was beaten by a slim margin. His opponent also won the Championship in his class.

With the loss of only two men from the squad, the prospects for this season are good. Gray and St. Clair are assured to us for another year, and there is promising new material. Dean Trevor will coach the team this year in the absence of Professor Strow, who is on leave of absence at present.

ILLINOIS Wesleyan proved its superiority in Little Nineteen swimming circles by winning the conference meet, held at St. Viateur's, March 22nd, by a ten point margin. The Knox squad of nine men finished second with 34 points, while "Chick" Wells of Macomb amassed 11 points and third place for Western. Wells, the individual star of the meet, won the 50 yard dash, the 100 yard dash, and placed fourth in the fancy diving. Wesleyan won the 200 yard relay with Knox close on her heels, to set a new record. The 50 yard dash was a close race, Wells being followed by Dyar of Knox in third place and second and fourth places going to Wesleyan. The 220 yard race proved to be a Waterloo for Knox, the icy water cramping Weaver into third place and Kennedy into fourth, while Wesleyan annexed first and second.

The 100 yard breast-stroke and 100 yard back-stroke races were both won by Wesleyan, with Spiegler and Beardsley of Knox placing in close seconds while Peterson placed fourth in the latter. Carle took third in the 100 yard dash and Weaver annexed second in a beautiful diving exhibition. The last race, the medley relay was won by Knox (Beardsley, Spiegler, Carle) to nose out Wesleyan and clip the record at 1:45. Knox will lose only Divis and Peterson by graduation and should make another good showing next year.

Intra-Mural Season

THE Board of Intra-Mural managers is composed of a representative from each fraternity, and is headed by a chairman who is elected from year to year. As a group, they function to arrange a suitable Intra-Mural program throughout each year. It is the duty of the chairman to be present at all contests, to see that scores are kept, playing rules imposed, equipment is furnished, etc. Individually, these men are in charge of the Intra-Mural programs at their respective Houses. During the past year, the Intra-Mural event of Cross-Country was removed from the program, after much agitation was experienced due to the dislike that the fraternities in general have against this sport. This group has planned next year to introduce Intra-Mural Golf to fill up the program. During the past year, the group has worked harmoniously and co-operatively to bring about one of the most successful Intra-Mural seasons of recent years.

Mark Gault, following in the steps of his predecessor, Bud Keyser, has led the Phi Deltas to contest hotly the efforts of the opposing teams. Under his guidance, the Phi Deltas have offered a lot of competition to their athletic enemies, and he hopes to retain the Cook Trophy for another year. Mark has been a member of the Cross Country, Volley Ball, and Track teams, and has enjoyed success with them.

During the first semester of this school year, Will Gange was Intra-Mural Manager for the Betas, but he was succeeded by Tum Collins when the former withdrew from college at the mid-year. Although the Betas have so far won only one event, they have taken several second places and promise to put up a strong fight for the championship trophy.

Under the guidance of Dave Sperry, the Phi Gams have offered strong competition to their opponents this year. They have proved their worth by winning the trophies for championships in Rifle and Basketball tilts. Team work and co-operation have placed Phi Gam teams at the top in these two events.

The Tekes, led by Scotty Jamieson, have forged ahead remarkably this year to show their worth in the various sports. Their spirit of fight brought them up to the two-way tie with the Phi Gams, and a bad break in the last few minutes of the play-off lost the game for them.

The Sigma Nu Intra-Mural manager is Ted Strawbridge. Even with a marked lack of material, Ted has brought all of his teams into shape to offer stiff fights in the various events. With adequate material, the other organizations might well expect to employ all their efforts to keep this team from winning too many events.

We have to admit that Joe Adams has had tough luck this year. However, maybe it was just indication of the down-side of the cycle, for we expect big things from the Lambda Chis in the future.

Allan St. Claire leads the Phi Sigs in their Intra-Mural endeavors. Perhaps it was due to Al's leadership that the Phi Sigs won the Scholarship Trophy, although this is hardly an Intra-Mural Sport.

The Commons Club never seem to have much luck, but we all admire them for their marvelous spirit. No matter what the odds are, everyone turns out and does his best. We take our hats off to this organization and wish them better luck in the future.

Cross Country — Phi Delta Theta

This is another event in which the Phi Deltas have won the trophy for the second consecutive year. The cup will remain a permanent possession of the Phis, because the Athletic Board of Control has ruled the sport out of the Intra-Mural schedule. Sherman, Frary, and Dewey were the outstanding members of the teams, winning second, third, and fifth places respectively.

Perhaps victory will become a habit with this team.

The Fijis are undoubtedly the dead shots on the range, having won this trophy for the last two years. W. A. A.

NE of the largest and most active organizations on the Knox campus is the Woman's Athletic Association. Headed this year by Helen Bonson, the W. A. A. has sponsored a complete program of interclass and intramural sports, with the usual resultant interest and large number of participants.

W. A. A. awards 100 points for participation on a class team, 50 points for second team and 25 for "going out" for the sport. Full membership in the association is gained when 200 points have been made. Those winning 100 points are invited to become associate members.

A girl earning 1000 points is awarded a white "K" sweater. So far this year Henrietta Memler is the only member to win a sweater. Frances Wallace has earned 1400 points, enabling her to wear a gold star on her "K" sweater.

Each sport is represented by a manager, and these managers with the officers comprising the W. A. A. Council control the activities of the association.

Team sports are hockey, soccer, volleyball, basketball and baseball. Individual sports the Knox girls play are archery, tennis and swimming, the latter having been added after a lapse of several years. The Galesburg High School pool is used for the swimming activities.

In hockey the interclass champions this year were the Juniors, while the Freshmen won the volleyball title. Betty Husted, freshman, won the college archery championship, and Henrietta Memler is the Knox tennis champ.

The highest honor awarded in W. A. A. is the electing of a Senior member as "best all around athlete." The basis on which the selection is made is good sportsmanship, co-operation, versatility and excellence in athletics, interest in W. A. A. and a "C" average. Last year this honor was awarded to Josephine Strain.

This year witnessed a change in the directors of the women's physical education department; Miss Mathilda Shelby leaving to study in the East, and Miss Helen Lowes coming to take her place. Miss Lowes secured her B. B. degree at the University of Illinois and her Master's at the University of Chicago. Her physical education work was done at the American school of Physical Education in Chicago, where she secured a PBA degree. She has also attended the University of Wisconsin summer school of physical education.

Miss Lowes has made no radical changes in the W. A. A. program except to place tennis as a spring sport instead of both fall and spring. An innovation in the department was the exhibition which she arranged on Dads' Day last fall, of the work of the various classes so that visiting dads might see the athletic activities in which their daughters take part.

Inter-class Hockey

Hockey began soon after school started in September with the usual large number of girls attending practice. All four classes had excellent teams and good weather permitted practice to go on with enthusiasm. The good weather continued till time for games to be played, when it rained, making the field very hard to play on. The teams showed their fighting ability, however, and games were peppy, the Juniors winning, with Marion Peterson, captain.

Inter-class Volleyball

There were some 50 girls out for volleyball this season. The Freshman volleyball team triumphed over the other class teams. Captained by Dolores Yahn they struggled for supremacy with the Sophomore and a combined upper-class team, finally defeating the former by a close score.

Murray

Sigma Delta Psi

James K. Murray is the only active member of Sigma Delta Psi. Sigma Delta Psi is an honorary athletic fraternity founded at the University of Indiana in 1912. It now has chapters in schools throughout the Middle West. The object of the fraternity is the encouragement of physical development and training among college students. For admission to full membership a student must attain certain proficiency in a number of athletic events.

Admission to membership at Knox is based on scholarship and physical tests in track, baseball, football, and swimming. Mr. Murray became a member in 1927 and since that time no other members have been elected.

Honnold Fellowship

Ernest Sandeen is the recipient of the first award of the Honnold fellowship. This fellowship, which provides fifteen hundred dollars annually for graduate study in this country or abroad, may be renewed for two or three years. It is awarded by William L. Honnold, a former Knox student and now a prominent mining engineer. The award is unusual in size and character among western colleges.

Mr. Sandeen has made an excellent scholastic record. In his freshman year he won the Lawrence prize for Latin. He was elected to the Key Club in his sophomore year. His principal extra-curricular activity has been dramatics. He is a member of Players' Club and Theta Alpha Phi.

The Student Council

S the result of a suggestion made by Dr. Raub, the first Student Council came into existence at Knox College in January of 1910.

It was in chapel after the Christmas recess that Dr. Sellew announced that the plan had been adopted and that several of the classes had already elected their representatives.

The purpose of organizing this council was to facilitate immediate inter-communication between the faculty and the students on matters of importance in the life of the students and the good of the institution. This council could call conferences whenever occasion seemed to make it necessary to call such joint meetings.

The first council consisted of ten members; four seniors, three juniors, two sophomores, and one freshman.

Until 1915 this body was more of an honorary body than a legislative one, but its organization was a step in the direction of student self-government.

It was not until 1916 that it was rejuvenated. At this time it promoted college parties. Also at this time it drew up a constitution which was ratified by the faculty and the student body. It adopted as its project for this year the working out of a point system for the outside activities and also the working out of an honor system.

From previous reports it seems that the council was devoting its entire time to projects of importance to the college only at that time, such as the usual entertainments of a college.

Then ten years later, a change was made in the morale of the body. Each body elected two members who held office until they graduated or left school.

Since 1927 the Student Council has become a very active body. It, at that time, appointed a chairman of a Social Committee, who was the general chairman of all college activities. In addition, all elections were at the supervision of this council. Regulations were then made also concerning the student publications. By means of the student activity fee, the council subsidizes these publications and debates, as well as the forensic activities of the students.

Again last year, 1929, the representatives were elected differently. This time twenty members were chosen by proportional representation. This plan is still used, with each member serving only one year. Under the proportional representation plan, candidates must first be nominated by petition. Only when a person has a given number of endorsements on his petition is he eligible for office. In the voting of the student body upon the candidates, each individual voter can indicate first, second, third, etc., choices. Student Council elections are usually the keynote of a great deal of political campaigning, since upon political power is balanced influence on Knox campus.

The Student Council has had a successful year, 1930-1931. It has done a great deal to make the year an enjoyable one from all standpoints. The officers with whom it has co-operated are: President, John Schumacher; Vice-President, Helen Staggs; Secretary, Dorothy Hall; Treasurer, Gail Urban.

W. S. G. A.

WHE Women's Self-Government Association, the judicial organization on the Knox campus for the disciplinary control of Knox women, vests its governing power in a board composed of twelve girls chosen by the proportionate representation plan. This board has jurisdiction over all girls in college whether they live in the Hall or not, by means of the rules and regulations passed for the well-being of the girls. It has charge of all discipline cases involving the breaking of any of these rules.

In the fall, the W. S. G. A. sponsored a "Pajama Party" for the purpose of creating a feeling of friendship between the old students and the new girls in the Hall. At the beginning of the second semester it gives a W. S. G. A. Frolic for the Freshmen and upperclass girls.

Besides these special gatherings, the W. S. G. A. sponsored the monthly faculty teas and opened the formal season with the Christmas Prom. Members of the Prom committee this year, who aided the chairman, Doris Shearer, were Frances Bohle, Jean Willis, and Ruth Clark.

The officers who served this year are: President, Margaret Sheahan; Vice-President, Ada Weisbrenner; Secretary, Josephine Martin; Treasurer, Inez McLaughlin. The executive board consisted of Frances Wallace, Lorraine Jones, Mary Alice Rolfe, Virginia Hoffman, Carolyn Bricker, Erma Coffman, Emma Lou Fisher, and Jane Gray, freshman representative.

Y. W. C. A.

HE Knox branch of the national Young Women's Christian Association was organized in 1884 for the purpose of helping the girls to develop a friendlier spirit and live a more worthwhile life.

The past year under the leadership of Marion Christy has been a very successful one. One of the main projects of Y. W. was the Big Sister-Little Sister movement, which helped the freshmen and new girls become adjusted to a strange environment. A breakfast and several parties were given at the beginning of the year to acquaint the freshmen with their classmates.

The organization has been divided into committees this year under the various cabinet members. The main project of the financial committee was a Rummage Sale. The Social Service group has done well in the infant welfare line. A special feature this year which has proven very popular is the "Charm School", a division of Y. W. dealing with every-day problems of the college girl, as the name implies.

The cabinet members who were responsible for the success of the past year are: President, Marion Christy; Vice-President, Carolyn Bricker; Secretary, Margaret Post; Treasurer, Henrietta Memler; Program Chairman, Lola Bowman; Social Service Chairman, Mary Alice Gibson; Discussion Group Chairman, Janet Smith; Membership Chairman, Anna Mae Hartong; Social Chairman, Irma Brodman; Publicity Chairman, Dorothy Sperry; Religious Chairman, Isabelle Terrill; World Fellowship Chairman, Alice Anderson.

The Freshman Commission

ACH year early in the second semester, the cabinet which serves the Young Women's Christian Association chooses from among the freshmen women, a group which, it considers, will be representative of Knox women in the course of the next three years. Those members of the commission so honored are chosen on the basis of scholarship, a general activity on the campus, democracy, interest in Y. W. C. A., as evidenced particularly through the discussion groups sponsored by Y. W., and future promise.

Soon after their selection, the commission elected as its officers the following girls: President, Eleanor Richmond; Vice-President, Jeanne Murray; Secretary, Jane Francia; Treasurer, LaRue Spiker. Under these officers, the commission made plans to raise money for the purpose of sending a freshman representative to the Geneva conference held each summer. The commission took over the Y. W. C. A. candy box, and made nightly rounds about the hall selling their wares.

The girls were formally introduced to the Y. W. C. A. cabinet and the Y. W. C. A. advisory board at a luncheon given in their honor a short time after their selection.

The girls so honored by the Y. W. C. A. cabinet are: Willadell Allen, Jean Barber, Rose Eleanor Brittain, Jane Francia, Jane Grey, Frances Hazen, Jeanne Murray, Helen Parkins, Virginia Price, Louise Marie Nelson, Eleanor Richmond, Margaret Rossi, Edna Rottenberg, Lois Short, and LaRue Spiker.

The Sophomore Commission

HE Sophomore Commission has as its members those girls chosen to make up the last year's Freshman commission. They were chosen by the Y. W. C. A. cabinet at that time on the basis of scholarship, campus activities, Y. W. C. A. interest, and future promise, identically the same principles on which the Freshman commission was selected this season.

The purpose of the commission is to promote good fellowship among freshmen and upperclassmen and to function as an independent agency which will aid freshmen girls in the forming of new friendships. The officers who directed the commission's activities are: President, Dorothy Sperry; Vice-President, Erma Coffman, Treasurer, Margaret Post.

The commission undertook several projects to raise money. Their most successful effort was the selling of green caps to freshmen girls, with the profits of which they intend to send a delegate to the Geneva conference this coming summer. The commission was in charge of the serving of the annual Big Sister-Little Sister dinner, held in the Whiting Hall garden. It also took an important part in the impressive candle light service of the Y. W. C. A. The only apparent lack of thought by this year's commission was the carelessness in allowing freshmen to leave chapel exercises ahead of upperclassmen.

The members of the commission are: Irma Brodman, Erma Coffman, Mary De-Coster, Marjorie Evans, Kathryn Fleming, Ruth Merdian, Margaret Post, Elizabeth-Smart, Dorothy Sperry, Helen Ortman and Isabelle Terrill.

Le Cercle Francais

THE purpose of the French Club has been to promote a better understanding of spoken French among its members, and in addition, to arouse a more whole-hearted appreciation of French customs and culture. This purpose was furthered by the fact that the meetings of the Club were conducted solely with the use of the French language. The meetings this year were held the third Wednesday of each month in the W. S. G. A. room of Whiting Hall. However, the club has enjoyed an occasional dinner meeting at Seymour Hall.

For the most part, the club members furnished their own entertainment. Novelty was introduced into the programs by the presentation of French playlets, games and stories. Also, a great many articles from French magazines on current subjects were given. At one of the first meetings of the year, Mr. Zens Smith gave an account of his stay in France immediately after the World War. He also sang some French songs, playing his own accompaniment on the guitar. Mr. Elbert Smith gave some instructive talks on his recent trip to France.

Miss Willard, the head of the French department, was the advisor of the group this year.

The officers who served were: President, Janet Smith; Vice-President, Lester Ott; Secretary, Lola Bowman; Treasurer, Nancy McLellan; Program Chairman Virginia Hoffman.

El Círculo Espanol

Create in the members of the club an ability to speak everyday Spanish fluently has been the aim of "El Círculo Espanol". By means of the monthly dinner-meetings held at Seymour Hall on the first Thursday of every month, the members seek to gain more from the study of the Spanish language than just the class-room atmosphere.

Membership in the club is open to all students who have had at least one semester of Spanish in college or its equivalent in high school.

The programs are planned to include Spanish games, music, stories, and lectures by students and professors. One of the outstanding programs of the year was the one in December which was carried out in the style of a true Mexican celebration. In addition, Miss Coleman, Professor of Spanish, gave an account of her trip to Mexico last summer, and showed many interesting pieces of pottery and other novelties which she had brought back with her.

The officers who have been responsible during the past year for the success of the club were: President, Gene Zendt; Vice-President, and Program Chairman, Melba Lindberg; Secretary, Dorothy Wallace.

The advisors were the three Spanish professors: Miss Coleman, Miss Calbick, and Mr. Smith.

The German Club

Other clubs organized through the stimulus afforded by foreign languages, so was the German club, "Der Deutsche Verein", founded, with the purpose behind it to further interest in German culture, and to promote a knowledge of the German language. Under a new ruling which went into effect this year, first year students have been admitted into the club. As a result there are fifty-three answering roll-call.

Programs of the German Club have embraced a wide variety of subjects, and brought to them, interested faculty speakers. One program dealt with music alone. The various members presented a musical program made up of compositions by leading German composers. The Christmas meeting, the outstanding meeting of the year, was a dinner held at Seymour Hall at which was served only German food. Professor Raub described a German Christmas as he had witnessed it. The students belonging to the second year class presented Goethe's play "Herr Mann Unt Dorothea" at a following meeting, and in addition, a discussion of Goethe was given. The March meeting had as its speaker, Dr. Kellogg, the Harvard Exchange professor. Miss Lindahl showed some interesting slides of German city life in addition.

The officers who served the club the past year were: President, John Mergener; Program Chairman, Lester Ott; Secretary, Emma Lou Fisher; Treasurer, Kenneth Dyar.

L. M. I.

HE Ladies' Mutual Improvement Society, founded in 1862, is the oldest women's organization on the Knox campus. Its purpose is to encourage literary efforts among the girls. The try-outs for membership this year consisted of either a poem, essay, short story, or book review.

Last year two five dollar prizes were given—one for the best poem submitted during the year, and the other for the best prose work. The former prize was won by Mary McEldowney and the latter by Grace Wargo. This year a new plan will be adopted. A prize of five dollars will be given for the best single literary effort and also a cup in memory of Mrs. Arnold, one of the founders of L. M. I., will be presented to the girl having the best scrap book. This scrap book will be made up of articles which the owner has had published in the Student, Siwasher, or Gale.

The programs have been varied this year and have covered a wide field. Many different phases of literature have been touched upon, such as Negro poetry, magazine writing, and humanism. The social calendar of L. M. I. has included among other things a luncheon during commencement week and a tea for alumnae.

The officers for the past year have been: President, Charlotte Crawford; Vice-President, Lola Bowman; Corresponding Secretary, Mary Liken; Recording Secretary, Carolyn Bricker; Treasurer, Inez McLaughlin; Program Chairman, Sara Davison; Publicity Chairman, Edith Smith; Social Chairman, Janet Smith; Siwasher Correspondent, Doris Shearer; Librarian, Sue Viertel.

Women's Debate

Coached by Warren C. Shaw, as was the men's debate team, the women debaters were prepared to meet the attacks of the men from the University of Iowa on the question pertaining to the abolishment of distinctions between amateur and professional sports for which entrance fees are paid. The debates held in open forum style, were presented in the American Legion Hall and also at Seymour Hall.

Men's Debate

As in former seasons, this year's debates were again held with the use of the open forum system, now employed by practically all college debaters throughout the country. The question under fire centered about compulsory unemployment insurance, and aroused a great deal of interest among the men's clubs of the city, before whom, representatives from Michigan, Illinois, and Northwestern spoke.

W. S. G. A. Christmas Prom

The W. S. G. A. heralded the Knox formal season with the annual Christmas Prom, held December 12, at the Armory. The hall, decked in holiday style for the festivity, accommodated one hundred-fifty couples who danced to the tunes of Nelson Maples' Leviathan orchestra. The event was chaperoned by President and Mrs. Britt, Dean and Mrs. Poor, and Mrs. Malcolmson.

Junior Prom

One of the outstanding social events on the 1931 calendar was the annual Junior Prom held at the Roof Garden, April 10. A well known orchestra furnished music and novelty features for the occasion. As in other proms, so also in this one, the interesting event of the evening was the grand march led by the Junior Class president, Christine McFerran and her escort.

Whiting Hall Council

ORGANIZATIONS pertaining to general well-being, are for the most part, the outgrowth of a situation where a need for them is felt. So the Whiting Hall House Council was organized for the purpose of regulating all affairs in the women's dormitory which did not fall under the direct jurisdiction of the faculty.

The purpose has been directed into three well-defined channels. It makes and enforces all House rules, controls all matters pertaining to the government of the House, and encourages a personal responsibility in the residents of the House which will further their interests.

The Council sponsors several social functions each season. During the Christmas season, the Council held a party for the entertainment of the children of the Free Kindergarten; each child was given a gift and some candy. Another event sponsored by the Council was a tea given for the faculty in the garden. Dancing each Wednesday night held at the Hall, and several formal dinners were promoted by the Council. At Homecoming it had charge of the decorations for the Hall, and held an open-house tea.

The officers of the Council are: President, Lorraine Jones; Secretary, Mary Francia; Treasurer, Alice Stevens. The members are Charlotte Crawford, Emma Lou Fisher, Christine McFerran, Josephine Martin, Jeanne Murray, Elizabeth Smart, Dorothy Sperry, and Alice Switzer.

The 1932 GALE

O suggest to you the flavor of an old printed book and to weave into this story of another year at Knox something of the style of the old incunabula, and thus turn your thoughts back into those "lowly men who first wrought in the noble art of printing"—this has been the purpose of our book, the 1932 GALE.

It is only fitting that in this enlightened day of science that we remember the early book makers. It is through the first efforts of medieval printers that we came to have books—and with books we are able to have widespread education—colleges and universities.

It has only been through the splendid co-operation of many minds and talents that we can give you this book. We are glad of this opportunity to thank our friends who have put so much time and thought into this publication.

Miss Dorothea Tanning drew the "woodcut" sketches which adorn the division pages as well as the antique pictorial map on the frontspiece, to which Miss Natalie Diemer contributed materially.

The drawings of the Henry M. Seymour Library are the work of Mr. Ralph Hilson, a Chicago artist.

Mr. Lass of Wagoner's Printing Co., Mr. Harrison and Mr. Clay have given freely of their time and advice. And we wish to especially thank Mr. Lucius Elder for his help and counsel in the more or less technical points of the division pages.

Mr. Zens Smith and Miss Florence Merdian have contributed with snapshots and cuts.

The Chaucerian verse, on the division and opening pages, which we confess pleases us immensely, is the brain child of Ernest Sandeen.

But all of these people we have mentioned have been specialty workers. What of those who have toiled over write-ups, hounded the merry crowds down to the photographers, pasted, read proof and did the hundred and one things allotted to the punishment bears who work on annuals—it is to these I come.

The department heads, chosen for their promise of capability were a joy to the editor. Here they are, God bless them: Assistant Editors, Alice Anderson, Inez McLaughlin, Marjorie Evans, Jess Bogue; Faculty, Betty Holstine; Seniors, Martha Crissey; Juniors, Mildred Hofflund; Freshmen, Alice Switzer; Military, Bruce Primm; Publications, Doris Shearer; Alumni, Elizabeth Babcock; Organizations, Isabelle Terrill; Men's Athletics, Loring Helfrich; Fraternities, Elizabeth Stellwagen; Honorary Fraternities, Grace Castle; Humor, Dorothy Brown; Drama, Louise West; Women's Athletics, Ruth Merdian; Snapshots, Ruth Lawyer; Music, Maxine Hult; and Intramurals, Art Woods.

We extend our sincere thanks to our typists, Eva Defaut and Edna Rottenberg and to those staff members who worked so faithfully under the department heads.

The financial success of this volume is all due to Mr. Conine and his able assistant, Scott Harrod who labored to pay for the paper on which I write.

May you enjoy our efforts and may this GALE serve to keep alive for you vivid and pleasant memories of Knox.

The Knox Student

THE combined efforts of Gail Urban, as editor, and of Ralph Sieben, as business manager, assisted very ably by the entire staff, have made possible the production of a meritorious publication.

Editor Urban introduced an entirely new front page make-up; a variation of head-line style replacing the former streamer head. This has given the page a very satisfactory informal balance. There has also been a new make-up style on the editorial page:

four columns instead of the usual three, with the addition of two new columns, "Sour Wine", and "Savoir"; and a retention of the "Knocks Student". The editorial policy has been to emphasize academic subjects that are of special interest to the student.

New features have been especially interesting this year. The Library Column, known under the title, "Let's Read", has kept the students informed as to new books and to unique old books that might otherwise be passed unobserved. "Oliver Says", a satirical commentary of campus happenings, Impressions, written of people about school, Military News, and Intramurals, are among the journalistic innovations introduced this year.

The publication, consisting of eight pages and occasionally ten, is issued every Wednesday. This year the Homecoming issue of twelve pages, was the largest ever put out. In main, it consisted of features dealing with the history of the college, and of Publications. It pictured Knox as a pageant that moved through the incredible sphere of time—past, present, and future.

The editorial staff this year has been very efficient, its 44 members working with unusual integrity. The associate editor was Robert Switzer; the assistant editors were Alice Anderson, Richard Barron, Marie Breckenmaker, James Fulton, Hugh Jencks, and Elizabeth Stellwagen. The sport editors were Joe Burton, varsity sports; Ruth Merdian, women's sports. The special writers were Natalie Diemer, Ernest Sandeen, and Helen Surey. Feature writers were Bill Beattie, Jeanne Murray, and Charles Robison. The reporters were Edward Arvidson, Irma Brodman, Erma Coffman, Helen Bonson, Sara Davison, Jane Francia, Mary Francia, Mary Alice Gibson, Frank Hajek, Virginia Hinchliff, Charles Johnson, Russell Johnson, Henrietta Memler, Joe Morgan, Dorothy Mundwiler, Inez McLaughlin, Bruce Primm, Eleanor Richmond, Lee Riggs, Doris Shearer, Lois Short, La Rue Spiker, Helen Staggs, Joe Strasburger, Ione Sundberg, Betty Test, Frances Wallace, Louise West, and Sue Viertel. The advertising assistants were Jess Bogue, Lester Bowles, Comer Crandell, Edward Hieronymous, Gale Mathers, Louis Monoco, Nels Nordstrom, Frank Potter, Bill Weaver, and Wilfred Woollett.

May we congratulate the editor, business manager, and entire staff on their excellent work.

Editor Collins

The Siwasher

Under the guidance of Sumner Collins, as editor, and Charles Howe, as business manager, the Siwasher, humorous publication of the Knox campus, enjoyed its tenth year of continued existence. Issued every six weeks at the "Old Siwash of George Fitch", the issues, starting with Homecoming and climaxing with graduation, numbered seven.

As has been the custom in past years, the make-up of the magazine was contributed largely by the student body and consisted of short stories, poetry, essays and criticisms. In addition to this, an exchange department and a theatre page were maintained throughout the year.

Efforts were made to cut down the number of jokes in each issue, and to devote the greater part of the space to articles of a more literary nature. Several short stories of good calibre were included as well as intimate details concerning the life of George Fitch, famous humorist who used Knox as the background for many of his books.

Circulation of the Siwasher was again opened to all students at Knox from the subsidy payment out of the Student Council fee, and distributions were made from the bulletin board in Old Main and in the various dormitories.

Attractive cover designs were in evidence on each issue in keeping with the theme. A departure from past years was the insertion of color in the drawings instead of the usual black and white designs.

Assisting in the editing of the publication were Charles Woods, as exchange editor, and Elizabeth Stellwagen, as editor of the theatre page. Russel Bergstrom and Scott Harrod assisted in carrying out the business end under the direction of the business manager, Howe. And we find among the list of regular contributors the names of Witmer Kerns, Bob Ostler, Alice Anderson, Helen Surey, Hugh Jencks, Ralph Sieben, Bob McNow and Emmett Smith.

One of the best issues of the year, which we all feel deserves special mention is the March issue —being a clever take-off of the Green Book, Guide Book for freshmen.

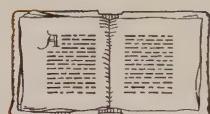

Mention might be made here of the new board of publications established this year. Five faculty members, President Britt, Professors Neifert, Adamec, Newcombe and Beauchamp and four students, Marion Christy, John Schumacher, Robert Murphy, and Robert Burns compose this new board which in the future will be responsible for the election and attend to the compensation of the publication staffs, as well as guide the general policy of the publications.

The Knox R. O. T. C.

MORE than ever before, the Knox unit of the R. O. T. C. has assumed an important part in the educational system of the college. Under the leadership of Captain R. J. Williamson and Lieutenant R. F. Ennis, the spirit of the unit has greatly increased, and it has developed into a very fine organization. This year one hundred fifty-two men were enrolled in the department, including the basic and advanced courses. Because of this large enrollment, the unit has been divided into four companies of two platoons each instead of three companies as formerly maintained.

The department was very fortunate this year in receiving from the government new uniforms for the basic corps. These uniforms consist of olive drab trousers, coats with blue lapels, and an overseas cap. They add much to the appearance of the unit and are a great improvement over those previously issued.

In order to produce good Reserve Officers for the Army of the United States, the department endeavors to give thorough instruction in the fundamental knowledge and skill required to perform the mission of a soldier. These fundamentals are leadership, a thorough knowledge of Infantry weapons, and marksmanship.

Last year the department adopted a policy of assigning men to companies permanently. This has proven very successful, in that it gives to the men an incentive to work harder for the company they are to remain in their four years in school. Company dinners held during the winter months also did much to increase the spirit.

The efficiency in rifle marksmanship is increasing yearly. The Phi Gams won the inter-organization competition again this year with a score of 997, which is an increase of 17 points over their score of last year. The R. O. T. C. rifle squad is picked from those men having the best scores in the inter-organization matches. Clyde Yount is the team captain and Morris Marshall is the manager. The high individual scores made by this team show the results of excellent coaching. This team is entered in the Sixth Corps Area matched against units from other schools in the same corps area.

One of the big days for the department was Sponsor's Day, which was designated as November 17th. In the first part of the afternoon the companies engaged in a drill competition which was won by Company "C". The Individual competition was won by William Sinclair, freshman, and Harvey Andrews, sophomore. After the competitions there was a battalion parade, during which the newly elected sponsors were presented to their organizations. The sponsors chosen are Miss Irma Brodman, battalion; Miss Mary DeCoster, Company A, Miss Janet Craig, Company B; Miss Alice Stevens, Company C; and Miss Jean Tuggle, Company D. Miss Irma Brodman, battalion sponsor, was made honorary major of the battalions. The afternoon was completed by a tea dance given at Seymour Hall in honor of the sponsors.

The Knox Chapter of Scabbard and Blade also sponsored the annual Military Ball, which was held on February 20th, at the New Winter Garden.

On May 22nd and 23rd the Knox unit was inspected by an officer designated by the commanding general of the Corps Area. Last year our unit was given an excellent rating which speaks well for the work being accomplished.

At the end of every school year the advanced students attend a six weeks R. O. T. C. summer camp. There the student makes practical use of the theory taught in classes and special emphasis is laid on marksmanship and other field work.

The Knox College Alumni Association

OT always too happily, the structure of a college and its activities are occasionally likened to those of a manufacturing plant. There is, however, at least one viewpoint from which the comparison may be helpful. In final analysis, the success of both the factory and the college may fairly be measured in terms of the quality of their respective products. It is entirely reasonable that prospective students who read these pages, that present undergraduates, soon to be alumni themselves, should desire to know and should be informed of the quality of the product of Knox College as it is expressed in the lives and work of her alumni.

Definite and just selection of a few special names from the long list would be impossible. Accordingly, the following Knoxians appear here not as the greatest of our graduates, but as a cross section of the Knox alumni body; typical of thousands of their fellow alumni whose work, life and influence are potent factors for good in the world where they have lived and are living.

Graduated from Knox with the class of 1911, ROBERT J. BENDER became a reporter on the Springfield Illinois State Register and was soon placed in charge of the International News Service where his efficient work brought him to the attention of the United Press. He joined the news gathering staff of that organization in 1915 and has since been signally honored by them, repaying his employers in kind.

For the past five years he has been vice-president and general news manager of the United Press. His journalistic achievements have been the subject of editorial comment throughout the United States and in Europe. He has just finished a year of successful service as president of the New York Knox Club and is a member of the Knox Board of Trustees.

After receiving her bachelor's degree at Knox in 1902, LOUISE FITCH later received the master's degree and afterwards completed the residence requirements for her Ph.D. at the University of California in psychology and social economics. The war prevented the completion of her thesis. After the war she spent some time in France, studying the effect of the war upon the women of France. One result of her life abroad was a book entitled "Madame France".

Previous to the war she was a school teacher in Illinois and in North Dakota for four years. She was for two years editor and business manager of the Galva News, a paper for many years edited by her father. It was on the Galva News that her brother, George Fitch, served his newspaper apprenticeship.

Miss Fitch is a member of Delta Delta Delta and was for ten years editor and business manager of the official publication of that sorority, The Trident. She was also editor of the Leaving Knox in '99 he became professor of politics at Princeton University; later president of the college of the City of New York, the commissioner of education for the state of New York and president of the University of the state of New York; afterwards head of the Red Cross in Palestine and the Near East; and later editor of the New York Times, the position he now holds.

Dr. Finley's present connections with Knox include his trusteeship of the college and the chairmanship of the Knox Centenary Fund Campaign. He is a frequent visitor to the campus and attends regularly the alumni dinners of the New York Knox Club.

When M. MAX GOODSILL was appointed General Passenger Agent of the Northern Pacific Railway five years ago, the position he holds today, he was said to be the youngest general passenger agent of an American railroad. During the election of Knox alumni trustees two years ago, Robert Bender was asked to write a few words about Goodsill for publication in the alumni magazine and immediately wired the college as follows:

John H. Finley, '87

"IT IS A SIGNAL HONOR TO THE YOUNGER GENERATION OF KNOX ALUMNI THAT MAX GOODSILL HAS BEEN PLACED IN NOMINATION AS THEIR MEMBER OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES STOP EVERYTHING MAX HAS TOUCHED HE HAS MADE GO FROM THE TIME HE ESTABLISHED A NEW RECORD OF FORTY-EIGHT HOURS FOR FIVE PASSENGER TRAFFIC IN HIS ONE CYLINDER BRUSH (NAME OF AN AUTOMOBILE HE HAD) TO PEORIA UNTIL HE BEGAN PROVIDING WAYS MEANS AND REASONS FOR PEOPLE TRAVELING ON THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD STOP IN BETWEEN THOSE HIGH MOMENTS OF HIS CAREER HE WAS A GREAT SUCCESS AS BUSINESS MANAGER OF THE GALE (I BELIEVE THAT WAS THE PUBLICATION THAT I REFER TO) MANAGING EDITOR OF THE GALESBURG MAIL ENTHUSIASTIC IN ESTABLISHING AND INSTRUCTING A KNOX CLASS IN PRACTICAL JOURNALISM AND FOUNDER OF THE KNOX ALUMNUS OF WHICH HE WAS EDITOR FOR SOME YEARS STOP EVERYTHING HE HAS TOUCHED HAS BEEN A SUCCESS TO ALL CONCERNED AND I PREDICT A VERY ABLE ALUMNI REPRESENTATIVE ON THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES IF HE IS CHOSEN."

Goodsill was elected and is today a valued member of the Board. DEMA E. HARSHBARGER's service as founder, president and general manager of the Civic Concert Service, Incorporated, has been described by one of her discriminating fellow citizens as a "vital contribution to Chicago's civic life". Through this organization, musical talent for concerts given on the civic plan is supplied to seventy-one other cities in addition to that furnished to the Uptown Civic Music Association of Chicago, an organization which owes its existence to Miss Harshbarger. As to how she became interested in this field of work let Miss Harshbarger tell the story in her own words. "A short time after my graduation the Century Lyceum Bureau wanted someone to sell talent, and Professor Conger kindly recommended me for the place. The idea of leaving the lyceum field and entering the civic concert movement came later as a result of my experience trying to interest persons each year in the ordinary lecture course plan. I resigned my position, went to California for a time to ponder the proposition and convince myself that I was right. I became thoroughly sold on it and satisfied that I could persuade others as to its value. I am indebted to Professor Conger for giving me the right idea at the right time."

FRANCIS H. SISSON, vice-president of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, has for years been prominent in the field of financial publicity. He directs publicity advertising and public relations work for his institution, including the publication of a monthly business magazine, Survey, a monthly house organ, and many booklets and pamphlets on business and economic topics.

Previous to his association with the Guaranty Trust Company, Mr. Sisson was prominent in railroad circles as assistant chairman of the advisory committee of the Association of Railway Executives. At the 1930 Convention of the American Bankers Association, he was elected to the position of second vice-president of that organization, which under the usual procedure will assure his election as president in 1932.

Mr. Sisson organized and for five years was Chairman of the Public Relations Commission of the American Bankers Association, which publishes the American Bankers Journal, and directs the association's publicity. He was also president of the trust company division of the association and is chairman of the publicity committee. He is a director of the Advertising Federation of America and is a member of important economic organizations, including the American Economic Association, the Stable Money Association, of which he is treasurer, the Academy of Political Science, and also of Phi Beta Kappa. Knox gave him the degree of LL.D. in 1921, and he was made Chevalier of the Order of the Crown by the King of Belgium in recognition of services during the war. At the present time he is acting as an arbitrator in the Court of Arbitration of the Arbitration Society of America. He was for a number of years president of Beta Theta Pi, and has always taken keen interest in educational matters.

For the daughter of a Kansas farmer to become a Knight of the French Legion of Honor is a genuine achievement, though but one of many for CHLOE OWINGS. Following her graduation from Knox College, she obtained her master's degree from Washington University, after which she entered social service work, later becoming general secretary of the Associated Charities of Poughkeepsie, New York, where she remained four years. When the World War opened, Miss Owings went to France in volunteer work. After three years in this work and a period of service with the Red Cross, she began work in the University of Paris, making a special investigation of juvenile delinquency in France. She completed her work in a year and wrote her book which was "crowned" by the French Academy of Political and Moral Sciences, as the greatest book of its subject in three years. This was the occasion for her receiving the Prix Carlier. Later she became recognized by the French judges as an authority on juvenile delinquency and began her work of assisting them.

A committee was formed of which Miss Owings was made vice-president, and money was secured from the French people to start a definite service. Miss Owings was officially named as its founder. From one worker, the service now has advanced to eight full-time paid workers. Recently a government commission on prison reform in France has used Miss Owings' thesis as its guide. The title of Chevalier de la Legion d'Honneur was given to Miss Owings by the President of France on December 5, 1927. She is at present in this country as director of the Social Hygiene Bureau of the University of Minnesota. Last June the college conferred upon her the honorary degree of Doctor of Letters.

So might the list go on including authors, diplomats, missionaries, governors, teachers, clergymen, college presidents, artists, composers, physicians, jurists; men and women in every field of constructive citizenship. To write of them all would fill the GALE and call for additional volumes.

The Players' Club

UNDER the capable supervision of Paul A. Foley, the new director of dramatics at Knox, the Players' Club conducted most satisfactorily this fourth year of the Little Theatre. Early in October the tryouts for this exclusive organization were held, resulting in the addition of nine new and promising members. Later on in the year, two more were added to the roll, so that now the membership includes twenty-nine players and nine technicians.

For the first time this year, Season Ticket books were available to members of the student body. The existence of these permanently reserved seats and the unusual interest shown in the productions made the adequate seating accommodations for the crowd a real problem.

The monthly dinner meetings of the organization proved entertaining and profitable. At the January meeting Professor Foley spoke of his eastern trip during the Christmas holidays giving resumes of some of the nineteen plays he saw in New York.

February fourth the club held its annual formal dinner at the Galesburg Club with President and Mrs. Britt as its guests. After the dinner President Britt gave a talk on the drama, pointing out how interest in the drama has decreased because of the lack of realism in modern people.

The club did unusually fine work in the presentation of its four plays, "Tommy", "Beyond The Horizon", "Beggar On Horseback" and "Twelfth Night". The members are to be congratulated on their splendid achievement.

“Tommy”

OMMY, by Lindsay and Robinson, a light and fast moving comedy, was the play presented October 31, and November 1, for the home-comers this year.

Unlike most Knox theatre productions there were no stars or leads in “Tommy”. The acting was almost entirely divided among the cast as a whole.

The story concerns a young maiden and her rather complicated affairs of heart. She is besieged by two suitors—one her schoolday’s sweetheart, Tommy, the favorite of her rather officious family—and the other Bernard, a rich young upstart. It is Tommy whom she really loves, but resenting the interferences of the family, she turns to Bernard. It is only by the timely intervention of Uncle David that things are saved. With a crafty scheme he turns the family violently against our Tommy; the young lady is incited to defend him, and all is well.

Harriette Davidson and Burton Carle play opposite one another in the roles of Marie and Tommy with poise and assurance. Witmer Kerns as Bernard possesses the suave manners all Southern gentlemen are supposed to have. Alice Stevens and Ernest Sandeen are positively rich in the roles of the meddlesome parents, and we won’t soon forget Bob Murphy’s excellent portrayal of kindly Uncle David. Bill Beattie and Betty Test were fine in the parts of the neighbors and we must give credit to the splendid stage staff that staged this clever comedy.

"Beyond the Horizon"

N the evening of December sixth, Theta Alpha Phi presented Eugene O'Neill's "Beyond The Horizon", for the benefit of the Knox theatre-goers. The play which won the Pulitzer Prize in 1920 was one of the outstanding productions of the season.

Like so many of O'Neill's plays, "Beyond The Horizon" is a rather depressing study of mal-adjusted personalities. It depicts an unforgettable tableau of New England farm life seen through the eyes of one utterly unsuited for it—a dreamy poet whose only desire is to be able to go "beyond the horizon", away from the monotony of drab existence into the land of the unreal. The play is tragically ironical. Through the mistaken love for a girl, the lives of two brothers are strangely thwarted; the natural-born tiller of the soil, Andy, is driven to foreign lands, while the dreamer is tied to duties he detests.

The leads in the play were most capably carried by Professor Foley in the role of the poetic dreamer, and Bill Beattie in the character of Andy. Alice Stevens as the girl whom both brothers love and whose life is crushed in the tragedy did some remarkable acting. Jess Bogue, Eileen Foley, Ernest Sandeen, Eugene Zendt, Robert Speer, and Louise Engstrand carried the minor roles with skill.

The play was powerful in its dramatic appeal and deserved the ardent support that every production of Theta Alpha Phi always receives.

"Beggar on Horseback"

AN the "Beggar on Horseback" Messrs. George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly, "the playboys of the western stage," have employed the technique of expressionism to sharpen the line of a social satire already adequately definite. They might have presented the fatuous Mr. Cady as they presented Duley—simply and directly as they saw him—and he would have been significant, but no more noteworthy than, say, Mr. Babbitt. In expressionism they found a better way. Instead of dramatizing Mr. Cady, they dramatized a stream of consciousness, the consciousness of the delirious Neil McRae. Early in the play we have a brief view of Mr. Cady and his trivial family as they are in reality, but from the moment Neil falls asleep, they appear only as the distorted figures of his dream. Of course the distortion is directed. Everything about the Cadys that is offensive to the artist's soul—attitudes, manners, false values—is magnified, and the flatness of their lives is emphasized by contrast with the charming flight of imagination, "A Kiss in Xanadu." It would all be very depressing were it not such rollicking good fun."

What more can we say than Mr. Beauchamp has said for us? We add this: February 27th was the date. The cast—Sandeen, Shearer, Tedman, Bogue, Balsley, Speer, Davis, Griffith, Hetzner, Brodman, McBride, Reed, Potter, Fredrickson, Harris, R. Johnson, Zendt, DeVore, A. Center, V. Clark, B. Hoffman, Arntson, H. Miller, Carle, Davidson, and Test. Silberer composed music for the pantomime.

Historical Highlights

HERE are four outstanding events during the college year in which every Knoxite takes an active interest.

Homecoming! To the undergraduate this means that classes have started in earnest; for the alumni it provides a good excuse to revisit the campus. The tenth annual Homecoming of Knox held October 31st, marked the first homecoming of the united Knox and Lombard colleges. Appropriately enough, the theme carried out was "Knox of the Future." First prizes for floats were awarded to Tau Kappa Epsilon, Delta Zeta, and W. A. A. The Phi Gamma Deltas were again awarded first prize for the best decorated house. The Siwash football team was judged superior to Beloit's team to the tune of 12 to 0. "Tommy", the homecoming play given Friday and Saturday nights was a huge success. At the homecoming dinner, held Saturday night at Seymour hall, a mock marriage was performed with Miss Lombard and Mr. Knox taking the leads.

Founder's Day marks the end of one semester and the beginning of the next. This year was the 37th celebration of the day 94 years ago when a handful of Philanthropic men founded the Knox Manual Labor College. Classes were dismissed on the afternoon of Thursday, February 19, and the entire school gathered in chapel to listen to an excellent address given by President Britt on a subject relative to the founding of Knox. In a talk after the Founder's day dinner at Seymour Hall, Dr. Donald W. Cowling, president of Carleton College, held nearly 200 students, alumni, and friends of the school spellbound for an hour. Dr. Cowling, who is one of the foremost authorities in America on the needs as well as opportunities of the small college talked on "The Future of Liberal Education."

The Campus Sing, a sure sign of spring, is a relatively new event at Knox. It was introduced three years ago and has gained rapidly in popularity. The sing is held at night on the steps of Old Main. Two prizes are given—one for sororities and one for fraternities. Last year the sing was ably managed by John Gray. The Phi Mus and Phi Gams sang themselves into first place.

On Flunk Day all dignity is laid aside and joy and mirth abound. The Student Council zealously guards the secret of the exact date of this long hoped for day. On the morning of this glorious spring day the entire student body troops to the West Theatre where some screamingly funny movies are shown. From the Theatre the students are taken to Lincoln Park. After a delicious picnic lunch everyone plays around until time to go back.

This year Knox has been exceedingly fortunate in securing two very prominent men through the Harvard Exchange and the Honnold Lecture courses.

The Harvard Exchange professor, Dr. Oliver D. Kellogg, started his lectures Tuesday, February 10. He is a highly educated and widely experienced man, keenly interested in the field of potential theory. His classroom lectures centered around the theory of probability. Dr. Kellogg is an interesting talker and spoke before varied groups during his stay at Knox.

Oliver D. Kellogg

GALE

The Honnold Series brought Mr. Will Irwin to Knox this year. Mr. Irwin, a well known journalist and author, is one of the most outstanding personalities to whom the students of Knox have been privileged to listen. His lectures, which began April 6, were on the subject of "Writing for a Living." Mr. Irwin proved to be popular and spoke before various organizations. Mrs. Irwin also a well known author, collaborated with her husband in his class lectures. She, too, spoke before various groups. Knox was extremely fortunate in securing these two famous people for the Honnold Series.

Vespers were continued for the fourth consecutive year with a singular success. President Britt arranged a series of lectures given by prominent men in various fields in which students and faculty were most interested. The series of Sunday afternoon services at Beecher Chapel opened January 25th and closed with a musical program by the choir under the direction of Dr. William F. Bentley.

Wm. H. Danforth, a business man of St. Louis, Missouri, president of the Farina-Ralston Company, and head of the American Youths' Foundation talked on "I dare You."

Dr. Albert W. Palmer, President of the Chicago Theological Seminary spoke on "The God We Choose."

Dr. Henry M. Wriston, President of Lawrence College, talked on "Religion and Beauty."

Dr. Oliver D. Kellogg, the Harvard Exchange Professor talked on the word "Veritas."

James Weber Lynn, Professor of English at University of Chicago discussed the question "Is Character really a By-product?"

Dr. Edwin B. Frost of Yerkes Observatory, one of the leading astronomers in America spoke on "Living in the Universe."

The tri-weekly chapel services were interesting this year. Besides the enlightening talks of our president and professors the following men delivered lectures:

Dr. Gordon Laing, Dean of the graduate school of Arts and Literature of University of Chicago, spoke in connection with the celebration of the 2000th birthday of Virgil.

Dr. McNaughton who has lived in Turkey for 40 years spoke on the modernization of that country.

Mr. Lake, representative of foreign missions in Japan, a resident of that country for 14 years, talked on Japan.

Rev. Hansen spoke on "Armistice Day."

Rev. Carmen spoke on "Examinations."

Dr. Bower, a prominent Galesburg physician gave an amusing talk on "Infinity."

Rev. A. W. Altenbern of the Universalist Church of this community told of "Relative Values."

The fact that all of Knox College, both students and faculty have contributed in such a large measure toward the success of these outstanding historical events shows that the people of Knox are still carrying on the Siwash spirit which built the Knox of the past, maintains it in the present and will carry it on to a Knox of the future. The Knox students and faculty should be congratulated on the well-rounded program of this year.

Dedication (and why not?)

To those Gentle Readers, who not only have glanced through this undying classic to see if their pictures were any good--- but also have enjoyed the Middle English touch.

GALE

A Groupe of Hithertoe Unpublishede Sketches of Earlie Daises at Knoxe

Courtesy of Society of Preservation of Early American Myths

An actual sketch of the founding of Knox, before the Spanish-American War. President Britt caught in the act of planting the idea.

What is now the Beta Theta Pi House. Previous to the Civil War, when Knox was just founded, this was the site of a famous brewery.

Evening Exercises for Whiting Hall girls. They used to take turns doing the chores. No definite proof is available, but authorities think this is a Pi Phi, due to the cow's sympathetic attitude.

GALE

A rare picture of a member of Phi Delta Theta, going to an eight o'clock with a load of books. (Before the Revolution, when Knox was just a small college.)

An All-College celebration of Washington's birthday.

In the old days (before the French and Indian Wars), the students sometimes walked across, or even sat on the campus. This is a picture of the first fence built to prevent such crudeness.

L. M. I. LADIES
MILDLY INTERESTED

In just what, is the secret. They meet, they talk, then meet again, but no member will (or can) tell why.

SERENADES

Name applied to the habit certain fraternities have of announcing that one party is over and another about to begin.

RUSHING

Another old custom. No set rules; everyone more or less makes their own, and tries them out on the freshmen during one-fourth of their college life, set apart for that ordeal.

ALL COLLEGE PARTIES

Upholding the ideals of democracy, etc., etc. One has the opportunity here to step on the toes of all the elite, which is something to tell your grandchildren.

EDITOR STUDENT AND EDITOR
SIWASH SCRAPS

Among other ancient customs, we have the editor's battles. Good for space-filling—a really original and worthwhile tradition.

INTRAMURALS

Every once in a while, the boys have time off for a class or two between games of ping-pong, swimming, horse-shoes, marbles, roller-skating, kite-flying and jumping rope. All good, clean rivalry, and brings sport into everyone's life.

Thank you
KNOX COLLEGE
for those kind words

From Mr. L. G. Churchill, Assistant Business Manager of Knox College, come these kind words in praise of Car-Na-Var, the perfect floor treatment.

Continental Chemical Corp.,
Watseka, Illinois

Gentlemen: Knox College has used Car-Na-Var now for a little over three years and finds that it does all you claim for it. We use it on all of our wood, linoleum and tile floors and find it satisfactory in every way.

Yours truly,
L. G. Churchill,
Asst. Bus. Mgr.

Car-Na-Var is a scientific combination of varnish gum and waxes. It gives a beautiful, lustrous, yet non-slippery finish to wood, linoleum, mastic, concrete, cork, etc. protects the surface indefinitely from wear and cuts maintenance costs as much as 50%.

Car-Na-Var wears much longer than ordinary varnish or floor wax. It is easily applied with a mop and is ready for traffic in an hour. Worn spots can be repaired without showing overlaps. Comes in "Natural" and popular colors. Car-Na-Var in color eliminates a separate application of stain.

Twenty Years From Now . . .

*You'll Laugh
at this Ad*

WHEN you have children of your own—or perhaps grandchildren—you'll turn back thru the Gale and say "what terribly funny clothes we wore then," and probably laugh at yourself.

YOU'LL be amused at the very long Coat with its extremely fitted waist and narrow belt . . . or the little Tam that tilts on the back of the head . . . or the Fur Ascot Scarf.

BUT the very factor that makes O. T.'s merchandise out-of-date 20 years from now is the thing that makes it style-right Today! The Big Store is always on the alert for dignified Smart Fashions.

There's no wonder that Knox College students have relied upon O. T.'s for more than 80 years!

Pin of the Week Club

Once again it is the great pleasure of Knox College to recognize among its students one of super creative genius. For many years the inmates of Whiting Hall have been desirous of a new means of attracting attention. The never failing method is to take a badge of some campus hokum society and adorn the womanly bosom. This method has one great fault—after one week the female wearing the said pin ceases to attract any attention. She is shelved and considered settled for two months, at least. However, think of that poor girl. She has tasted publicity and has drunk of the font of renown. Does she like to be suddenly forgotten? No, and it is for her that this creative genius has been slaving. Now, on this campus, exists a "Pin of the Week" club. No longer must a girl be cast aside from glory because she has worn a pin for a week. With membership in this club you are given the opportunity of wearing a new pin each and every week, brought to your door with the same regularity as the morning paper. This club will do more for Whiting Hall than has anything since the installation of drinking fountains. Now there is no reason why each and every girl should not have a different fraternity song warbled for her benefit every week. Think of the thrill of standing before that bevy of admiring femmes while the sweet, dear, ditty of the Bankum Thumkum Pie is skillfully executed. But, top that thrill by listening to the strains of Phi Up On'em as rendered the following week. I ask you, can you afford to miss the opportunity this club offers? Join now and be among the first to reap the benefits of Knox's newest and most popular club.

A SUCCESSFUL ANNUAL

A successful year book is one that expresses the spirit of the school by translating in book form the individual ideas of the annual staff and the recording of outstanding events of the school year.

This annual expresses the spirit of Knox College, and embodies the ideals of the staff of the "Gale, 1932" through its pleasing makeup, fine typography, excellent printing and attractive binding, all of which goes to make this a most successful book.

The personal service and hearty cooperation of all those having to do with the mechanical and editorial production of this book has made it a very attractive annual.
